Fortune in Realty at
U. S. Expense.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special]—Confident that Uncle Sam can be made to pay for the building of Boulder dam, political and commercial chieftains of southern California are quietly laying their plans to reap all possible benefits for their locality from the project.

Their constituents are constantly reminded of the glories that will come to pass once the enterprise is safely started and construction of the dam assured. A fanciful Utopia is held up for all to see.

Among the promises dangled hopefully before the voters of Los Angeles and the neighboring country are these: "You will get cheap and plentiful water and electrical power. You will no longer grow. More jobs will be created and more money put into circulation. Your rural regions will be protected against flood and against drought, and more farms created in southern California."

1 Years of Propaganda.
Botted by intensive propaganda, these chieftains have labored mightily for two years to build up a body of favorable political opinion. This opinion has been schooled to believe that the dam will surely be built and that the United States government will pay all the bills.

All of which leaves residents of Los Angeles and southern California in a happy state: They are firmly convinced that great material benefits will be heaped on them free of charge. Taking the Boulder dam pluggers on their word, for the moment, and eyeing their project in the light of what has happened there during building in the past, the following is said: That as soon as Boulder dam is functioning so as to convert the Colorado river into an even, well regulated flow, the city of Los Angeles, in combination with nineteen other cities, will build a new 266 mile aqueduct in the river.

Water for Millions.
This aqueduct will have for its purpose the transporting of water sufficient for 100,000 persons. Water will be brought across deserts and over mountains which will require a pumping lift of 1,635 feet at Shaver's summit.

In behalf of the newly formed Los Angeles-Southern California Metropolitan water district, the city of Los Angeles has already officially filed upon 1,600 second feet of flow in the Colorado. The district is to build the proposed aqueduct and handle the business of keeping Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino and other smaller towns supplied with household water. If the water district act stops it, the water district act stops it.

With David Shanks, the slayer of Miss Jennie M. Constance, Northwest university graduate student, indicted for murder, and plans completed for a quick trial, citizens and officials yesterday centered their attention on the laxity of Illinois laws which permit morons, known to be of the dangerous type, to be lawless.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university, among others, criticized the handling of known mental defectives. Officials and social service workers generally urged that some method be devised whereby the public would not be at the mercy of dangerous morons.

"It is obvious that such persons should not be permitted to transmit their low grade mentality on to posterity," said President Scott, citing the laws of California and several other states to prevent this.

Chief's Suspect List.

It was learned yesterday that Shanks was on Police Chief William O. Freeman's suspect list. In view of his criminal record and that even without the watch key it was likely that he would have been captured in the long run. Two colored members of the Evanston force, Policemen Henry White and Charles Holmes, began a search for Shanks as a possible suspect shortly after the discovery of the murder.

To add to the probability of his ultimate capture, Policeman Holmes knew Shanks in South Carolina before he came to Chicago. Holmes said that Shanks in his boyhood was known among his own race as a "worthless Negro" who refused to go to school. He said that Shanks came to Chicago like many other Negroes of the shiftless type, believing that he could easily pick up a fortune and live without working in the big city of the north. Holmes gave the name of Shanks' home town as Due West, S. C.

Trooper Previously Arrested.

The Evanston police said of two former instances in which Shanks has been arrested for offenses which revealed that he was a public menace. In the grand jury by Magistrate Charles Franklin of Evanston on a statutory offense a month later, Philip L. Sullivan, attorney for the Superior court, placed Shanks on probation when arraigned for this offense. Only three weeks ago Shanks was released after serving five months in the house of correction for peeping into the rooms of Northwestern university co-eds.

Slayer Reenacts Crime.

More than 5,000 persons yesterday swarmed about the scene of the killing while Shanks, closely guarded by Chief Freeman and members of his force, re-enacted the slaying. Under prompting of Assistant State's Attorney Harold Levy, Shanks, with slight emotion, apparently, went through every step of crime.

"I step over coming, but she couldn't see me," said Shanks, adding that as Miss Constance approached he hid behind one of the huge shade trees in front of the Peaks' residence at 703 Foster street. "When she got past me I struck her on the head from behind with all my might with the piece of pipe and she just crumpled up without a sound. I dragged her behind the hedge there and grabbed her pocketbook and wrist watch and ran."

Audible threats came from the crowd as Shanks told his story. Murders of "hang him" were repeated as Chief Freeman led his prisoner over the route Shanks had fled after killing Miss Constance.

"Here," said Shanks, pausing in Emerson street, "is where I threw away the clasp of her wrist watch." It was the watch which was found in a north side jewelry shop that led to Shanks' capture Tuesday night.

Speed Up Legal Machinery.

Hill followed by the crowd, Chief Freeman took Shanks before Magistrate Willard P. Brightmore of Evanston for preliminary hearing. The Negro's confession was witnessed by Mayor Charles H. Bartlett of Evanston and others.

Shanks was then hurried to the Criminal courts building and a half hour later a murder indictment had been returned before Acting Chief Justice Stanley H. Klarkowski of the

SALTIS SEEN OFTEN IN WISCONSIN, DEPUTY AT HAYWARD REVEALS

Two weeks ago Joe Saltis, convicted beer baron, sought here for 87 days by Chicago police, was seen by 87 numerous persons at Chieflake, it was declared yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Gus Schroeder of Hayward, Wis. The search for Saltis was begun by Chicago police, following receipt here of a United States Supreme court writ making it mandatory that Saltis serve a sixty days' bridewell sentence and pay a $50 fine for gun toting.

Another who is considered in line for a share of the award is Theodore Falicki of Downers Grove, employed as a watch repairer by Koch, who first noticed Miss Constance's initials on the watch.

The chief also said that members of the Chicago squad who had been employed, might also share in the rewards. These policemen are Edward Bussean, Sam Bell, George Durbin, Eugene Worthington, and Robert Borden.

Miss Constance had planned a vacation trip through Canada with her aged mother after receiving the degree of doctor of philosophy at the end of the Northwestern university summer term. She was learned yesterday. Miss Margaret Constance, sister, said her mother had been spangled knowledge of the details of her daughter's slaying, being told she was killed in an automobile accident.

"I am sure the case is going to trial as soon as the law allows, and we will insist upon the electric chair," said Prosecutor Levy.

Officials of Hillside, a west side suburb, believe Shanks may have killed Edna Miller, 17 years old, whose body, with the skull crushed, was found alongside a lonely street in Westchester last autumn. The girl, who was returning to her home in Hillside at night, was criminally attacked.

Chief of Police Eugene Schmalzried of Hillside conferred with Mr. Levy, who said he would question Shanks about this crime today.

Miss Bartlett and other leading Evanston citizens had high praise for the work of Chief Freeman and members of his department in capturing Shanks and solving the murder.

"I'm sure the confidence which Evanston people have placed in their police department is highly justified," declared President Scott. Mrs. James A. Patten also praised Freeman and his men.

Karl H. Koch, who has a jewelry store at 2314 Devon avenue, supplied the information which led to Shanks' capture when he brought to Chief Freeman the watch which the slayer sold for $1.10 after taking it from the body of his victim.

Distribution of the several thousand dollars in awards offered for the capture of Miss Constance's slayer had not been determined last night. Mr. Koch, the jeweler, would, of course, share in the awards, Chief Freeman said.

RECEIVER TAKES OVER CONTROL OF TOOMBS' BOND CO.

The Toombs & Daily company, a bond and mortgage concern with offices at 281 South LaSalle street, headed by Roy C. Toombs, was placed in the hands of a receiver yesterday by Superior Judge William N. Gemmill. The Foreman Trust and Savings bank was appointed to take over the affairs of the concern.

The petition for a receivership was brought by Clarence A. Stelle, a vice president of the Toombs company. It alleges that there is $2,000,000 missing from the accounts of the firm and that the petitioner believes the money was converted by Toombs.

Manipulations Charged.

The assets of the bond and mortgage house, estimated at $3,000,000, have been depleted, it is charged, through manipulations by Toombs in conjunction with the International Life Insurance company of St. Louis, of which he is also president. In the federal court at St. Louis a bankruptcy proceeding was started that securities worth $5,500,000 are missing from the insurance company's vaults.

Stelle's bill charges that the Toombs & Daily company is insolvent and unable to meet its obligations, but that the court must direct an accounting to determine the true condition of the financial affairs. A financial statement, published by the Toombs & Daily Co. on Dec. 31, 1927, lists liabilities of $2,000,000. These included: notes payable, $321,746.51; reserves, $27,382; capital and common stock outstanding, $3,600,000; and surplus, $864,129.63.

Stockholders Join in Motion.

Attorney Charles M. Howell of Kansas City, of counsel for Toombs, was quoted in St. Louis as saying that he had an appointment with the Chicagoans there tomorrow. Circuit Attorney Howard S. Stidener of St. Louis said he expected Toombs to surrender and give bond to answer any charge that might be preferred against him.

Another report from St. Louis said that Attorney General Frank Murphy, of Michigan, and two investigators to search bank vaults in several small Illinois cities for the missing securities of the International Life. The investigators are Bee Barclay, assistant financial secretary of the International Life, and Deputy Insurance Commissioner Magee. Sharlot would not disclose where the investigators were bound, but it was understood one of the places is a small town near Chicago.

Trace Loan to New York.

A report from St. Louis last night said that prosecutors inquiring into the insurance company's affairs had developed evidence that Toombs had borrowed approximately $500,000 in New York on a certificate for ten thousand shares of the International Life. Insurance stock alleged to have been issued fraudulently.

Italians Kill Secret Agent of Duce Abroad

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 14.—The activities of Premier Benito Mussolini's police among Italian refugees in Brussels were revealed today when two masked Italians murdered Senofonte Castari, a secret police agent of the Italian government. Sig. Castari had recently obtained the arrest of Amilcare Bottini, who the Italian premier suspects was the author of the attempt to kill King Victor Emanuel last year and whom he wants extradited.

FAIL TO SELECT PARTIES' PILOTS FOR THIS COUNTY

Both G. O. P. and Democrats Still at Sea.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Chicago Republicans and Democrats alike yesterday were singing mournful blues about the sad state of repair into which their respective organizations have fallen.

The former had thought they were well on the way toward the selection of a campaign manager following a big conference on Sunday. The decision of both their candidates for that job—George Woodruff of the Hoover western headquarters and David E. Shanahan of state headquarters—not to mix with the local organization, left the Republicans floundering, at least temporarily.

Democrats in Quandary.

On the Democratic side the ward leaders held numerous private confabs in efforts to eliminate bitterness that has cropped out since the death of George E. Brennan. Most of it is due to conflicting opinions as to who should be given the leadership in the presidential campaign, one of it being protest against the selection of Michael L. Igles, whom it is reported, Mr. Brennan on his death bed, picked as his successor.

The only consolation the leaders of either party found in the situation was that their opponents also were in a jam. But while the Democrats may patch up their machinery so that it functions smoothly now, the Republicans have tried to fix up the wreckage left by the April primary are not so confident of any chance for really unified action.

In each instance, it is said, the breakdown of the machinery will injure both national and state campaigns as well as the local tickets. Some anxiety is said to be felt in high places concerning the extent of the damage that will result.

May Seek a Professional.

So seriously is the Republican situation regarded that, while the big leaders have not yet taken up, some of the lesser ones have called in the question whether it wouldn't be possible to employ a professional campaign executive who would run headquarters as Jacob Allen did for the Deenen group in the primary battle.

As far as the details of the trouble are concerned, it is believed that one pile of insistence by the Thompson-Crowe bosses is the real bad spot. That is their demand that under any arrangement the campaign in each ward must be handled by the ward committee man elected in April. That means that in forty-four wards Thompson-Crowe men would be in command.

World Rank as Liabilities.

Some of those ward leaders, it is admitted privately, would be considering liabilities rather than assets to the Hoover and Emerson campaigns. This accounts to some extent for unwillingness of some men to undertake the management of the battle.

Over at Hoover western headquarters, it is believed, an earlier idea for the campaign that was drawn up after the November election may be revived. That was a proposal for the appointment of a local Hoover committee which would include acceptable politicians as well as nonpolitical business and professional men.

One suggestion for handling the Democratic tangle is that the election of Mr. Brennan's successor on the national committee be postponed until after the November election, and that in the meantime County Chairman Marion O'Brien should fall control of the county fight and that State Chairman Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet do the same for the rest of the state.

MRS. HARDING'S RELATIVES ISSUE MEMORIAL ASSN.

Marion, O., Aug. 14.—(P)—Suit was filed against the Harding Memorial Association today by Jean De Wolfe and George Neely De Wolfe, grandchildren of the late Florence Kling Harding, to recover household property of the widow of President Warren G. Harding.

The petition seeks to recover a number of lamps, some glassware, jewel cases and other items said not to be in the list of articles specifically bequeathed to the memorial association, and asks that the court construe Mrs. Harding's will.

Mrs. Raymond Robins to Organize Women Workers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(P)—Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, announced today that Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago had been named to direct campaign work among industrial women.

DUPONT'S CHECK FOR $50,000 IS RECEIVED TO HELP AL SMITH

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A contribution of $50,000 to the campaign of Gov. Smith for the presidency was received today at Democratic national headquarters here from Pierre S. du Pont.

The contribution is the largest so far for the Smith campaign. Mr. du Pont recently offered his resignation as chairman of the board of General Motors in connection with his avowal of active support of Gov. Smith. His resignation was refused but he was granted a leave of absence.

John J. Raskob, chairman of the national committee, was asked if there was any limit on the size of contributions.

"I don't think there is any objection," Mr. Raskob said, "to campaign contributions of any size so long as they are announced in the newspapers and used correctly in selling the candidate and the issues to the people through education."

"YEAR BOOK" IS UNAUTHORIZED, CERMACK WARNS

President Anton J. Cermak of the National Black Legion issued a statement yesterday disclaiming any connection with a so-called "year book" or "blue book" represented as having the sanction of the Legion.

He said he had received several reports of solicitations for advertisements in such a booklet.

He stated that the county board is not authorizing the use of its name as backing any publication and that representations to the contrary are false.

Gen. Allen to Head Vets' Al Smith Organization

New York, Aug. 14.—(P)—Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, who commanded the army of occupation after the world war, today accepted the presidency of the Democratic Veterans' organization.

JUDGE THOMPSON CENTERS HIS FIRE ON EMMERSON

Also Assails Carlstrom in Speech at Pana.

Pana, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Scathingly arraigning Louis L. Emerson, his Republican opponent, for laxity in duty and charging that Emerson deposited state funds in his own bank at Mount Vernon on which interests were earned but never a penny paid to the state of Illinois, Judge Floyd E. Thompson, Democratic candidate for governor, addressed three thousand people here this afternoon, marking Democratic day at the Pana chautauqua. Thompson also tore into Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, challenging him with contempt about from his office. He attacked Carlstrom's $600,000 interest settlement with Gov. Smith.

He added that the governor received immunity.

"If I am elected, and I expect to be," continued Thompson, "I shall not use one penny of the taxpayer's money to buy the political support of persons occupying positions of influence, by appointing them to public positions, without expecting from them any public service."

POLICE ACCUSED OF SUPPRESSING CRIME RECORDS

Deceive Public to Make a Good Showing.

The Chicago Crime commission yesterday made public a record of police action covering the period of the present Thompson administration showing that crime reports have been only fractionally published.

The situation was pictured in a compilation made by Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the commission, to its president, Frank J. Loesch. Among other things, it showed that only seventeen per cent of the complaints received at the city's forty police stations during 1927 were entered on the departments only official public crime records at the office of the secretary of police.

The commission's investigators found notations at the police stations of 10,684 larceny charges during 1927 as contrasted with a total of only 588 charges which were made public.

Demand Better Records.

"In my opinion," reads an excerpt from the report to Mr. Loesch, "commanding officers should be required to keep more complete records in their station complaint books. Some of these complaints are headed 'Wants to see an officer' and then the name of the person making the request and the officer assigned—but no further information was entered, although some may have been complaints of bone idle crimes."

"It is evident," another part of the report reads, "that the various police districts are suppressing complaints and in that manner seek to minimize the number of crimes committed in their respective districts, as the secretary's office is the only source of official figures on the number of crimes committed in the city."

Table Shows Difference.

A table printed in the report shows how this official source, the secretary of police, differs from the records at the police station, which are then given incompletely. The table reads:

DR. STRATON, IT'S YES OR NO, AL SAYS ON DEBATE

Writes Preacher He'll Talk
Only in the Pulpit.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Gov. Alfred Smith could demands eyes or no from Dr. John Roach Stratton in regard to his challenge of the preaching of Calvary Baptist church in Albany for alleged slander. This is the demand:

"Dear Dr. Stratton: I have your letter of August the ninth covering three pages in answer to my simple request that if you are permitted to come to my church and there have you repeat in my presence the statements you made about me, with such proof as you care to adduce, and give me an opportunity to answer you before your own parishioners and in the place where you made the statement. Missunderstands the situation.

"Your reply shows that you misunderstand the situation. I have no intention of conducting a political debate with you. I wrote you not in the capacity of a candidate or personnel agent as the governor of the state of New York, whom you have traduced.

"The answer to my request to appear in your church before your parishioners under the conditions I mentioned is yes or no. Unless, and until I hear from you in the affirmative, the matter is closed."

"No wasted or useless words there, governor," was a comment after examination of the letter by a dozen newspaper correspondents—to say nothing of the dozen grouped around Al Smith in the cool drawing room of the executive mansion.

"No," he replied, "It's in contrast with Dr. Stratton's three page letter to me."

Takes Pride in Brevity.

The nominee takes pride in adequate brevity. That is one reason why he, who in many attributes is the antithesis of Calvin Coolidge, greatly admired Mr. Coolidge. When I told him that once the President had said that Gen. Grant's supreme service in the civil war was that "he waited no time in trying to find some substitute for victory," the governor rewarded the quotation with a wide-eyed, rolling look and exclaimed: "He said a man must wait to find the right attractive moods today—I mean that he was serene, meditative, and companionable. Work on the acceptance speech is finished and his mind and body are relaxed.

Another characteristic impulse of the man was disclosed today—his eagerness to avoid causing other people anxiety.

Wouldn't Annoy Man's Family.

A state official has just resigned. Reporters for the neighborhood newspapers were eager to know the reason. The governor hesitated to answer, finally saying: "He's a very sick man. He was unable to get the right way in your papers. The family would see it—and I don't think they have been told how sick he is. Don't worry them. I'll tell you, put it this way:

"— is passing up his public and business activities for the present and seeking complete rest on the advice of his physician." Will you do that? All right.

This is the nominee's program for the immediate future in his own words:

"Tomorrow, conference with former

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels; Thursday, conference with Senator George of Georgia; Friday, conference with Senator Walsh of Montana.

Wednesday evening of next week, my speech of acceptance will be delivered at the New York City fair, followed by a series of conferences, going on Friday, Saturday, to Seaside, N. J. At Seaside I will review New Jersey state troops. I may stay there till Monday. I may motor from Seaside to the New York state fair at Syracuse. I don't know yet."

"There will be a speech at the state fair—but not political," the governor added. "That wouldn't be appropriate. Nothing I say there will have any national significance."

Won't Debate Watson.

Would he accept the challenge of Senator Watson (Rep., Ind.) to a joint debate at the fair?

No, adding:

"The people don't want me to talk politics at the fair. All they want is a good look at the governor. Ever bear about that boy who went to the circus and hung around outside? His mother said, 'Why don't you come in, child, and see the animals?' and he said, 'I don't want to see the elephants—I want to see Al Smith.'

United States Senator Carter Glass of Virginia visited with the governor this afternoon. It was taken for granted that prohibition was the topic but neither man will talk. Mr. Glass and Al Smith are, as all the country knows, as well apart as possible on prohibition. Now Glass' task is to try to find some ground of compromise.

Your reply shows that you misunderstand the situation. I have no intention of conducting a political debate with you. I wrote you not in the capacity of a candidate or personnel agent as the governor of the state of New York, whom you have traduced.

The answer to my request to appear in your church before your parishioners under the conditions I mentioned is yes or no. Unless, and until I hear from you in the affirmative, the matter is closed."

"No wasted or useless words there, governor," was a comment after examination of the letter by a dozen newspaper correspondents—to say nothing of the dozen grouped around Al Smith in the cool drawing room of the executive mansion.

"No," he replied, "It's in contrast with Dr. Stratton's three page letter to me."

COOLIDGE LIKES HOOVER SPEECH; O.K.'S FLOOD PLAN

President Will Speak in Wausau Today.

Superior, Wisc., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Scheduled to address the Wisconsin state convention of the American Legion in Wausau tomorrow morning, an overnight rail trip from the summer White House confronted President Coolidge today.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and by his son, John, the chief executive had arranged to stay in Wausau only two hours, leaving again immediately after his speech to be back at Cedar Island Lodge in time for dinner tomorrow evening.

Mr. Coolidge congratulated Secretary Hoover upon his speech of acceptance last Saturday, and also approved the report of the Mississippi flood control board recommending that the control project prepared last December by Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, be carried out without alterations.

To Mr. Hoover the President telephoned:

"Your speech of acceptance ranks very high in political discussion. I congratulate you upon it and upon the reception which has been given to it by the country."

The Mississippi board report discarded the flood control plan submitted last November by the Mississippi river commission on the grounds this plan was drawn up to withstand a flood only as great as that of 1927. Gen. Jadwin's plan, incorporated in the Mississippi flood relief legislation adopted during the session, was rejected by the board because it would give protection from the largest imaginable flood.

FIDDLE'S SQUEAL FROM PIG, NOT CAT, SCIENTISTS TOLD

Strings of violins and other musical instruments, though known as catgut, do not come from cats but from sheep and hogs. Dr. W. Lee Lewis of the Institute of American Meat Packers told members of the American Chemical Society institute, meeting at the Northwestern university yesterday.

Dr. Lewis took up the question of bacon foods and said that mankind is moving on a new era in the production of prepared fruits, cereals and meats," he concluded, "is nature's grand piece of unfinished business."

MRS. HOOVER SEEKS TO BUY BIRTHPLACE OF HER HUSBAND

Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Negotiations looking to the purchase of Herbert Hoover's birthplace in West Branch by Mrs. Hoover, wife of the Republican presidential nominee, have been going forward for several weeks it was learned here today.

Mrs. Jennie Scollars, present owner, however, heretofore expressed a reluctance to dispose of the homestead. Mrs. Hoover desired to acquire the deed to the place by Aug. 10 and presented it to her husband as a birthday gift.

The Scollars family reunion will be held in West Branch, Aug. 21, in connection with Hoover day. The sale will be taken up again at that time.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and by his son, John, the chief executive had arranged to stay in Wausau only two hours, leaving again immediately after his speech to be back at Cedar Island Lodge in time for dinner tomorrow evening.

MAYOR DESIRES LAKE AIRPORT CLOSE TO LOOP

Mayor Thompson believes Chicago's proposed lake front airport should be built in the lake, off Grant Park straight east of the loop rather than between 16th and 23rd streets as heretofore contemplated, his spokesman, Corporation Counsel Etelson, revealed yesterday.

Mr. Etelson said he discussed the flying field project with Mr. Thompson on a recent trip to the mayor's retreat near Manitowish, Wis.

"The mayor told me that he wants the airport as near the central business district as possible," the corporation counsel stated. "He can see no reason for not putting it off Madison street or Adams Street instead of farther south and I agree with him. Why locate it a half hour from the loop when it can be ten minutes from the loop?"

Will Take Up Problem.

Mr. Etelson instructed Assistant Corporation Counsel Roy Loesch to take up the matter with the local war department engineers and with the Chicago aero commission which has been delegated by Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe to draw up specifications for the site.

The aero commission took the job off Mr. Wolfe's hands after a conference with agents Maj. Reed G. Landis, chairman of the commission, formally notified the commissioners yesterday that the commission already has started work on the plans.

land in deep water whereas part of an island already exists off 23rd street.

Park Board Offers Island.

Originally, the south park commissioners offered to build the field on the latter site if the city would cede 1½ rights to Harbor No. 4, the island property. This the city failed to do, whereupon the park commissioners withdrew the offer. Subsequently, last June, the council adopted a resolution favoring a $5,000,000 or $8,000,000 city bond issue for the project, to be submitted in November, and directing Mr. Wolfe to draw up plans.

Chesterfield Davenport

Of "Heritage" Quality

The Chesterfield Davenport illustrated above is custom-built by skilled Grand Rapids craftsmen in accordance with strict "Heritage" specifications. No question, then, as to the long, staunch service it will render.

It is dignified without being stiff or too formal. The gracious invitation it offers is fulfilled by deep comfort. The covering throughout is of rich, heavy damask. The cushions are reversible. It is generously proportioned, full-sized, yet not overly massive in line or length.

"Splendid" describes its every quality—appearance, design, construction. But the price is comparatively modest. See this Davenport at the Loop Store or one of our Branch Stores—there's one near you.

O MILLION YEAR FOR GOTHAM RUM GRAFT, 'TIS SAID

And That, It Seems, Gives Only Local Protection.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special]—After a survey of night clubs and speakeasies in New York City, the New York Evening Post today estimated that graft to the extent of ten million dollars a year is paid for protection.

This $10,000,000 involves only "protection" within the local districts and does not touch the beer, wine or alcohol traffic, the fixing of探oted federal dry agents and customs men, or any of the really expensive financing of the game of successfully outfitting, outunning and outshouting the federal dry forces.

It is based on a rough estimate of 30,000 night clubs and speakeasies in this city. Maxwell Shapiro, one of the United States attorneys ready to be conservative, says there are 10,000, while Representative La Guardia, known as a wet, puts them total at 12,000.

Sideline Not Included.

A spokesman, for the purpose of the survey, was taken to mean a place of which the main business is selling alcoholic beverages. No visits were made to sideline places—to grocery, delicatessen, dry goods and cigar stores, hotel rooms, clubs, political organizations, bootblack shops, undertaking establishments, garages, and the many other types of superficially innocent establishments that sell liquor.

The Post reporter explained his purpose frankly to the owners, managers and head waiters of each place visited, promising not to divulge its source. One magnificent night club said its local protection budget may run as high as $25,000 per year, but there was a suspicious grandiloquence about the information.

Two places put the figure at "more than $5,000," and estimated that there are dozens paying as much if not more."

Six places said they paid between $100 and $3,000, "counting incidentals."

Four "walk-in" speakeasies judged their expenses to be between $1,000 and $1,500, including lawyers' and "fixers'" fees.

Two places said they paid nothing. Three places estimated the annual sum between $100 and $500 and three others at about $500, "maybe a few hundred more."

Basis of Estimate.

Judging by the general remarks of all the persons consulted, the local protection budget can roughly be set forth as follows:

about 100 at $5,000.....	5 $25,000
about 100 at $3,000.....	30 $9,000
about 3,000 at $2,000.....	6,000,000
about 1,000 at $1,500.....	1,500,000
about 1,000 at $1,000.....	1,000,000
about 1,000 at $500.....	500,000
about 4,000 at $300.....	1,200,000
allowing for boasting and overstatement to excuse the high price of drinks, the total may be forced down to $10,000,000.

A place of the $1,000 variety asserted that all payments were made through "fixers."

There's a couple of fixers in every district, the politicians explained. They split the money. Some goes to the sergeant, some to the captain. They say plenty of money goes to buy tickets for benevolent funds or for contributions to benevolent associations.

Police and politicians get most of the "dough"—according to insiders.

48 Tribesmen Killed in Raid on Sudan Police Post

KHARTOUM, Egyptian Sudan, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Forty-eight tribesmen tribesmen were killed when their attack on the police post at Duk Faywil was repelled. They were part of a band of about 1,500 who have been raiding villages in the Duk Faywil district in the southern Sudan not far from the Abyssinian border.

U.S. DRY RAIDER WHO SHOT BOY OF 16 MAY BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL

New Albany, Ind., Aug. 14.—(Special)—Thomas P. McMasterson of Salem, prosecuting attorney of Washington county, tonight announced he will investigate the shooting by a federal prohibition agent in a raid north of here of Clarence Smith, age 16. If warranted he will present the case to the county grand jury, Masterson added.

Smith is in a serious condition in St. Edward's hospital here as a result of a severe wound in his left arm, that necessitated amputation.

Charles Liebert, agent, who did the shooting, says his rifle was accidentally discharged in a scuffle during the raid.

Boy Changes Story.

The boy says he is not certain whether the officer shot him accidentally. He was in a dazed condition when he was questioned Friday immediately following the raid by George Winkler, Indianapolis prohibition administrator for Indiana. He says he does not remember telling Winkler that he and Liebert had a scuffle and that he was positive the shooting was accidental.

After Winkler questioned the boy and announced that the affair was an accident, Winkler said he asked the youth whether he was sure he understood the question put to him and that the boy said he did. Winkler commented, you might make the assertion that the shooting was accidental in the presence of his father.

Boy's Father Held.

Mrs. Francis Lowman and the elder Smith were charged with conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws following the raid.

They are under $5,000 bond each pending investigation of the case by the federal grand jury in Indianapolis this fall.

Accuser.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special]—

Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, Tex., who has been jabbing at small and large violators of the Volstead law from the bench of the Federal court in Brooklyn, has finally stirred up a nest of trouble for himself.

F. R. Serri, attorney, has written to Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme court in formal complaint against the rebuke administered to him in open court last Saturday by Judge Atwell, sitting in Brooklyn for the vacation period.

The incident on Saturday occurred after the reading of a second verdict concerning Mrs. Angelina De Luca of Brooklyn, of possessing and selling liquor. She was sentenced to five days in jail and fined $100.

Gives Rebuke to Lawyer.

Turning to the lawyer who in summing up his case, he told the jury that the testimony of prohibition agents should be considered carefully and that his "definition of a modern miracle" was that of a prohibition agent who tells the truth under oath, the judge said that "in my country, a lawyer who made such an accusation against an officer of the law would be smacked so hard he got out of the court room."

Then Judge Atwell told Mrs. De Luca that she had been unfortunate in her choice of counsel and advised her to move to another neighborhood, declaring that "white folk and colored folk cannot live together."

DE MILLE, PRODUCER, AND SCENARIO WRITER MARRY ABOARD TRAIN

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 14.—(AP)—William De Mille, motion picture producer, and Clara Beranger, scenario writer, were married in the drawing room of a westbound Santa Fe passenger train as it stopped here today.

De Mille reached here last night from Los Angeles and arranged to have the county clerk at the train with the marriage license and a justice of the peace to perform the ceremony.

When the train arrived the three boarded it and went to Miss Beranger's drawing room, where the ceremony was performed. She had come from New York City.

An effort was made to keep the marriage secret. Mr. De Mille accompanied his bride on to Los Angeles.

BOYS' ESCAPES AT ST. CHARLES STIR UP PUBLIC

Legion Asks Return to Military Regime.

Alarmed at numerous escapes from the St. Charles School for Boys, Kane county communities last night voted a plan for the school to be closed. The American Legion posts consider a resolution demanding that military training and discipline, recently abolished, be restored.

It was pointed out that many of the youths sent to the school are not minor offenders, but charged with such crimes as assault to murder, burglary, robbery and rape. The escapes of such young criminals have caused great concern in the neighborhood of St. Charles, it was stated.

New Head Asks Time.

Acting Superintendent Otto Elliott, appointed principal of that institution following the removal of Maj. William J. Butler, a week ago, asked that he be given time to organize the school on a scientific basis. "There's some excitement, now, of course," he said. "But given time, we will be able to work out matters satisfactorily."

Maj. Butler was removed when he refused to abolish corporal punishment of the boys and substitute instead a psychiatric laboratory and other devices which the major characterized as sentimental.

Butler Reappears Sentimentally.
"You'll never be able to stop escapes from the school," Maj. Butler declared yesterday in a new broadside at the methods adopted by his successor. "Unless you enforce strict military training and whippings when they needed."

"I have every confidence in the parole system, but it is useless until the callous young criminals sent to the school are taught that they must bow to discipline. After that, they seem to swing into the spirit of the honor system."

Col. J. L. Knowlton, Born in Joliet, Ill., Dies in Paris

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) PARIS, Aug. 14.—Col. Joseph L. Knowlton, retired United States army officer, formerly residing in New York, died suddenly from a brain hemorrhage at the age of 66 at his home on the Boulevard Pereire. His wife, Mrs. and his two sons, Henry and Joseph, were at his bedside at the time of his death, while his third son, Daniel, was in New York. Col. Knowlton, who was born in Joliet, Ill., had lived in Paris for the last year.

NEW CAR BILLS TO BE DRAWN ON ACCEPTED PLANS

Having agreed upon "fundamentals," Ald. E. I. Frankhauser's transit subcommittee yesterday directed its lawyer, Assistant Corporation Counsel John G. Drennan, to draft a new set of transit bills to serve as the basis of an ordinance upon which the subcommittee is working.

The new bills will provide for home rule through a district transit commission, a terminable permit, consolidation, and will amend the Mueller law to permit the city to buy local transportation lines which might extend beyond the city limits. With the exception of the latter provisions, the "fundamentals" of the bills are the same as those defeated by the legislature in 1927 and again in May, 1928.

From ten days to two weeks will be required to write the bills, Mr. Drennan said. Until he has finished them no session of the subcommittee will be held.

DOWNTON GROVE GROUP TO FIGHT SEWAGE PLANS

At a meeting of Downers Grove residents last night a majority of those present decided to uphold the Downers Grove Taxpayers' association in a legal fight to defeat the plan of the town's sanitary trustees to build a new $225,000 sewage disposal plant.

Charged that the trustees intended to scrap the $75,000 plant built six years ago led to the demand recently that the trustees be dismissed from office. An assessment roll of $1.05 a front foot, filed by the trustees for the disposal project, will come up before County Judge S. L. Rathje in Wheaton on Sept. 24.

President A. F. Breuillet of the taxpayers' association said his group believes the plant should be built from the proceeds of a bond issue upon which the people could vote. Units sufficient to serve the community could be added to the present plant at a cost of $225,000, he said.

NEW GERMANY.

The ninth anniversary of the German republic has just been celebrated. It was an occasion in which all civilized peoples might well have joined. The establishment of a republic by the Germans was an important step in the modernization of Europe and toward the stabilization of that troubled continent.

The new republic was launched as republics are likely to be, as ours was and that of the French, in troubled waters. Perils without, and within threatened it. The old regime did not fight as hard for life as was expected, but it struck several blows, and the extremists of the left also made their assaults and in certain districts had their brief successes. But the solid character and intelligence of the great majority of the German people could not be shaken and the republic survived and has grown steadily stronger.

Bismarck said the German people would not live without a king, but Bismarck, great statesman that he was, was not always right, and the Germans have done well without the monarchy for nearly a decade and in circumstances which might well have tempted them to resort again to it for its theoretical and sometimes actual advantages, its unity and power of decision. But the better judgment of Germany put aside what we must believe were illusory claims to restoration and went on with the republican experiment.

some pitfalls, but he may go a long way safely if in New York he remembers his Philadelphia experience. Every time he has anything to do with Wall street, he will engage for the security of his adventure some Boo-Boo who for a percentage will undertake to see that he is not hit with a lead pipe in the clinches. He may not only keep his dough but increase it.

THE ST. CHARLES SCHOOL.

The problem apparently presented by the St. Charles School for Boys needs, it seems to The Tribune, a substantial application of common sense. Maj. Butler's régime may have been inadequate, but the alternative to be desired is not an ill-considered adoption of any system which passes with certain enthusiasts for modern. One would infer from the assurance of these well-intentioned theorists that their methods were founded on long, practical experience and had the unanimous acceptance and approval of science. The fact is that psychiatry and its methods, inferences, and conclusions are still on the frontier of human knowledge and that any system it proposes is highly experimental.

Older methods of dealing with the very complicated and often obscure problems of adolescent behavior do not all deserve to be relegated to the junk heap of error. Some of them have a certain proved efficacy. Although the passionate humanitarian protests, we continue to believe that even the cruel hairbrush, though perhaps a crude device, has its merits, and certainly we are not yet ready to give up the idea of discipline nor the use of applied force where it seems necessary in its application.

As for military training and method, the objection to it is at bottom an expression of sentimental pacifism, or as it calls itself, antimilitarism. It ignores the excellent results uniformly obtained in normal behavior and it should not be allowed to intrude itself into the consideration of the St. Charles problem.

There is also to be said of the advocates of an allegedly scientific system for St. Charles that their proposing suggests the gathering of a con-gregation of specialists about the bedside of a patient. Having arrived at a highly scientific diagnosis and given the disorder a long name, they have a tendency to walk out. We are quite willing to concede that the system at St. Charles should be bettered in its facilities for the study of the problems of adolescent conduct presented by its young inmates and for the judicious treatment of pathological cases, but we do not favor St. Charles being turned into a psychiatric laboratory without consideration of the community's right to protection in effective restraint, even though pending the discovery of efficient methods of cure, older and simpler means of control are retained. St. Charles should have a system based on well accepted knowledge and practical considerations rather than upon sentimentalism and experiment. The newer knowledge and especially the newer theories should be tried with caution and with intelligent recognition that they are experimental.

LET THEM JUNKET.

There is not as much cause for righteous indignation in the Army and Navy Register's exposure of congressional junketing as may at first appear. The Register says too many congressmen are using the army transports, under permission of the war department, of course, for trips to our island possessions. And they do not go alone, but with their families and sometimes their friends.

As sea voyages to Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Hawaii, and even to the far off Philippines, may say nothing of the charms of those places, may be classified as vacation luxuries and as the only charge imposed is for subsistence, the Register concludes that the trips are not made for the stern purpose of congressional education or information but as a lark.

We confess this conclusion is more than plausible, and we think that when a congressman is awarded transport the privilege should be confined to himself and his immediate family. But even though he may spend more time on Waikiki beach than in studying the political, economic, or military conditions of the islands, we are all for his going. The inescapable public profit of his visit to any of our islands, we are confident, more than offsets any expense to the government his transportation may impose. Any or almost any congressman who goes to our islands will get something that will make him more intelligent in his approach to the problems they present from time to time, will, if only unconsciously, widen his horizon, and will help him to realize something of the scope and character of our imperial responsibilities and opportunities. It will give him at least dimly a better sense of the nation's need for a navy to defend its far flung interests, and a much better appreciation of the importance of those interests.

Therefore, we say, let our congressmen travel, let them see especially our outlying possessions. It will diminish politics in congress and raise its level of thought toward statesmanship.

Editorial of the Day

BOSTON'S GIFT TO LONDON. [Birmingham, Ala., Age-Herald.] We read: "Francis White Emerson of Boston gives to the British museum his water colors by William Blake. The noblest benefaction that has ever come to this department from America," responds the British government.

Blake, the British post-painter and mystic in both temperament and art. The man who, when a friend alongside him, gazing rapt on the western horizon, asked, "Do you see yonder gorgeous sunset?" answered, "No; no; I see a band of angels, and hear them chanting, 'Holy, holy, holy.' That was William Blake. He was always seeing more than was visible to other men's eyes, and hearing more than was audible to other men's ears, and painted and wrote his visions.

He was born in London and died there about a century ago, and is the property of the world today in increasing rate as both poet and painter. Of him Charles Lamb wrote that he was "one of the most extraordinary men of his age," and Algernon Swinburne that "he was the single Englishman of supreme and poetic genius of his time." And neither essayist nor poet was an easy critic, but exacting, rather. That he was no ordinary painter, either, materialism in the fact that this munificent gift of the Bostonians is estimated in cash at $500,000 as a minimum. Gifts like this count, not only between persons but peoples. There is an inestimable ambassadorial significance attaching to them. They remain a witness and testimony of great-hearted esteem and sympathy, to be loved and appraised by millions. And pictures like these of Blake's, always on exhibition, remain photographed when words fade.

MIXING BABY'S MILK.

THE best method of mixing milk for the baby's bottle are now regarded as far too complicated. The newer methods are simple enough for any mother to carry out.

It occasionally happens that a baby needs to be fed bottle milk during the first two weeks of life. If so, the mixture should be composed of one part milk and two parts water, with the addition of one-half tablespoonful of sugar for each pint of milk.

During the first two days the baby should have water at regular intervals. Not very much is gained by adding milk to the water. The mixture given is to be used earlier than the second day.

From the end of the second week to the end of the third month the baby can take a mixture of milk and water, gradually increasing the amount of water as the baby's weight increases, according to the baby's weight.

Starting at one-half tablespoonful to the pint of milk mixture, it reaches two level tablespoons when the child reaches ten pounds in weight, and thereafter it is increased to three level tablespoons to each pint of mixture.

Older methods of dealing with the very complicated and often obscure problems of adolescent behavior do not all deserve to be relegated to the junk heap of error. Some of them have a certain proved efficacy. Although the passionate humanitarian protests, we continue to believe that even the cruel hairbrush, though perhaps a crude device, has its merits, and certainly we are not yet ready to give up the idea of discipline nor the use of applied force where it seems necessary in its application.

As for military training and method, the objection to it is at bottom an expression of sentimental pacifism, or as it calls itself, antimilitarism. It ignores the excellent results uniformly obtained in normal behavior and it should not be allowed to intrude itself into the consideration of the St. Charles problem.

There is also to be said of the advocates of an allegedly scientific system for St. Charles that their proposing suggests the gathering of a congregation of specialists about the bedside of a patient. Having arrived at a highly scientific diagnosis and given the disorder a long name, they have a tendency to walk out. We are quite willing to concede that the system at St. Charles should be bettered in its facilities for the study of the problems of adolescent conduct presented by its young inmates and for the judicious treatment of pathological cases, but we do not favor St. Charles being turned into a psychiatric laboratory without consideration of the community's right to protection in effective restraint, even though pending the discovery of efficient methods of cure, older and simpler means of control are retained. St. Charles should have a system based on well accepted knowledge and practical considerations rather than upon sentimentalism and experiment. The newer knowledge and especially the newer theories should be tried with caution and with intelligent recognition that they are experimental.

At three to six months of age a mixture of two parts milk and one part water should be used. In all cases the mixture should be well mixed by shaking before use. If the mixture becomes too loose, before it is mixed add water to one month of age, milk undiluted with water can be used. However, during the earlier part of this period, the top two ounces should be removed from the quart bottle of milk. It is better not to use this cream until the baby is well toward the end of the first year.

When cereals are given, the proportion of milk should be cut down. As the one is gradually increased in strength and quantity, the other is gradually decreased. If the cereals become too loose, the quantity of water added to the mixture should be decreased.

Orange juice or tomato juice should be given daily at least until vegetables and vegetable soups replace it.

TONS OF 'BOMBS' RAIN ON LONDON IN MIMIC AIR WAR

Planes in Battle 20,000
Feet Above City.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)
LONDON, Aug. 15.—[1 a. m.]—London was potentially in ruins today. A formation of fast "enemy" planes heavily loaded with death, flying explosives, crossed the coast last evening and swept toward London at a speed of 200 miles an hour, broke through the city's defenses, thus scoring a big margin for the attackers in the aerial war maneuvers.

Flying at a height of nearly 20,000 feet, necessitating special breathing apparatus and oxygen, a thrilling aerial combat was witnessed over central London as the raiders and defenders fought desperately for supremacy.

The first section of the attacking formation made for the air ministry, but just half an hour had commenced dropping bombs half a dozen defending fighters appeared above from the clouds, and after a short encounter the raiders fell in flames. Flying higher still, four miles in the air, a new formation crept up and bombed the air ministry undisturbed.

Wreck Duke's Barracks.

A third section of the attacking force broke through from the western approach to the capital and reduced to ruins the Cavalry barracks, the headquarters of the Duke of York's regiment, while a fourth enemy raiding party swept up from the east and attacked St. Paul's cathedral and the general postoffice, which had "narrow escapes." Old Bailey, London's premier judicial center, also was in the danger zone.

A race for the "frontier" followed, but the defenders caught the raiders above Littlehampton on the southern coast, and in a terrific battle several of the bombers and some of the defenders were "shot down."

London thus suffered "terrible damage" in the second phase of the week's maneuvers, in which more than 300 battle planes are taking part. The Eastern force (the invaders) attack was carried out on a huge scale over Sussex, Surrey, Kent, Essex, and Mid-der, while the defense, the western force, was equally widespread.

Drop 200 Tons of Bombs.

At one o'clock this morning (Wednesday) the fighting still is going on. Four enemy bombers made another attempt to bomb London. Berlin lights are dashing across the darkened skies, while the dron of machine guns high overhead indicates terrible handlings. An official communiqué records one night bomber caught by searchlights south of the capital and shot down just after midnight. The success of the raiders in this attack appears to be less than the earlier night's operations.

Two hundred tons of bombs theoretically rained on London during the first night of the air battle, which ended at 9 a. m. Tuesday. Twenty-eight raids by heavy enemy night bombers over London and the capital took place, and twenty-two air combats. Six invaders were "shot down" in addition to eight claimed by the ground artillery.

The genesis of the agreement is France's insistence at Geneva on global limitation of ships. France now has adopted the category principle. In return Great Britain has agreed not to consider trained reserves in estimating land armaments.

WOMAN FAILS SUICIDE ATTEMPT.
ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 14.—The Newfoundland government, headed by W. S. Monroe, resigned today after holding on two months beyond the expiration of its term. Sir William Alderdyce, governor and commander-in-chief, may be the next prime minister.

NO SECRET LURKS IN FRENCH PACT, SAYS ENGLAND

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The United States department is fully informed of all the facts concerning the Anglo-French armament agreement. There are no secret clauses and no desire to conceal anything. A high official of the British foreign office explained that apprehension was caused by erroneous description of the agreement as a treaty.

It is, he said, simply a statement of principles on which England and France will stand united in future conferences. If other nations insist, it may be modified. At any rate, it becomes actually of use only when accepted by the full international conference.

The genesis of the agreement is France's insistence at Geneva on global limitation of ships. France now has adopted the category principle. In return Great Britain has agreed not to consider trained reserves in estimating land armaments.

WOMAN FAILS SUICIDE ATTEMPT.
Mrs. Nancy Ehlers, 34, of 4014 Dixiel boulevard, attempted to commit suicide by jumping from the kitchen window of her home. The police were summoned and broke in to rescue her. After being conducted to the hospital she was charged with disorderly conduct.

FOREIGN FIRE RISK POLICIES HIT BY ORDER

W. F. Colvert, an insurance broker with offices at 2449 Wilson avenue, has been ordered to take up a number of fire insurance policies placed with foreign companies following a hearing before the state insurance commissioner. It was learned yesterday.

Since many of the domestic companies have been more careful of late in selecting risks, owing to heavy underwriting of losses in recent years, the door has been opened to outside concerns which agree to assume insurance burdens that others consider too risky. It was insurance of this type that Colvert is said to have been handling. The companies named not being licensed to operate in the United States.

Among the companies were L'Américaine Insurance and Reinsurance Company, Ltd., of Paris; British Islands Insurance company, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and the Eastern, Midland General and Northern Mutual Insurance companies of the same city.

Triumphs in Transportation

IN the building of the four complete sets of equipment required for these magnificent new trains our ambition has been to give expression through them of our high ideals of public service.

We have striven to employ in their construction a degree of luxury and beauty, a thoroughness and perfection in the arrangements for the comfort and safety of our patrons, that will make them truly "Triumphs in Transportation" marking a new era in railway service.

You are cordially invited to attend the exhibition of these two new trains.

SECOND STORM SPEEDING NORTH FROM FLORIDA

PLAINFIELD GIRL TAKES HONORS AT FAIR IN AURORA

Southern Georgia Towns in Peril of Winds.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 14.—(UPI)—After isolating a 150 mile stretch of the northwest Florida coast on its journey up the Gulf of Mexico last night, Florida's latest tropical storm veered inland with hurricane force today and tonight was blowing across southern Georgia toward the Atlantic ocean.

Thomasville, Cairo, Quitman and other extreme southern Georgia towns were in the path of the winds which the weather bureau believed would attain 60 to 70 miles velocity.

May Exceed Previous Storm.

Wire communications rapidly were going down before the advance of the gale, and first reports said the damage apparently would be greater than that done by last week's storm which followed virtually the same course. Cairo sent word that business virtually had been demolished. Quitman was darkened at noon. Barometers fell rapidly throughout the peninsula.

Communication, a section of the Florida coast reaching from above Cedar Keys to a point west of Apalachicola was paralyzed. Little fear for that section was felt, however, since indirect reports from some of the coast towns said that small damage was done.

Torrential rains accompanied the advance of the storm, bringing flood threat to lowlands in northern Florida and southern Georgia, where highways were badly washed last week.

FAHERTY ORDERS HIS EMPLOYES ON NO PAY VACATION

It's His Way of Meeting Mayor's Economy Order.

Between 500 and 600 employees of the board of local improvements were notified by President Michael J. Fahey yesterday that they each must take a two weeks vacation without pay as a result of Mayor Thompson's order for a cut in city hall expenditures to avert a deficit in the corporate budget.

The fair will continue through Friday. It is expected that winners in the live stock show will be decided by tomorrow night, while the final day will arrive before the baby show and style show winners are announced.

The major directed the board of local improvements to save $18,000 before the end of 1928. Mr. Fahey announced that he already has saved $5,000 out of the sums appropriated to him by the city council and that the compulsory vacation plan should save another $6,000. He said he chose to let all employees share in the economy program rather than to fire any of them.

Goes for Fahey, Too, He Says.

"This vacation order goes for everybody from top to bottom," he asserted. "I'm going to forfeit two weeks' salary myself."

Coincident with Mr. Fahey's announcement it was learned that Michael J. Kennedy, commissioner of gas and electricity, expects to dismiss 500 employees from his department on Sept. 1. The Board of Education, under President Ettelson released 63 employees Monday ad City Sealer Daniel Garris announced that he will dismiss 10 deputy weight inspectors. Police Commissioner Russell will employ none of the 500 new policemen voted to him by the council on July 1.

Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, was the hardest hit by the mayor's retrenchment order, being directed to save $1,126,000. This he has apportioned to the various bureaus under his supervision as follows: Commissioners' office, $6,000; maps and plans, $9,000; architecture, $2,000; city hall, $60,000; rivers and harbors, $75,000; bridges, $85,000; waste disposal, $100,000; streets, $155,000; sewers, $75,000; and parks and playgrounds, $85,000.

New Warning from Ettelson.

Mr. Ettelson, the mayor's spokesman, issued a new warning yesterday about the seriousness of the mayor's order. Any department head who fails to save his quota, he said, will "commit an unfriendly act."

Meanwhile the murmurings of politicians whose protégés have been or are to be ousted has swelled to a chorus of protest. One alderman declared that seven of his precinct captains have lost their jobs this week and that six of them are "on his neck." It is one of a dozen who trooped in to Mr. Ettelson with complaints. All of it was said, received a cold shoulder.

The chief objection raised by each of them was to the size of the mayor's figures. Whereas the impending deficit is estimated to be between $3,000 and $5,000,000, the total amount

Mr. Thompson has asked saved is more than $8,000,000. In the city commissioners' office it was explained that the sum was boosted so that if any departments fail to save their quotas, the amounts saved by the others will counterbalance the deficit.

CHICAGO FINDS NEW YORK PLANS ENDANGER FAIR

Congress may be called upon to determine whether Chicago or New York will have the support of the nation in the plans both cities have under way for the holding of a world's fair, it was indicated yesterday in a statement issued by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Chicago centennial trustees.

That Chicago should celebrate its centennial is "decreed by the logic of circumstances" Mr. Dawes asserted. "The obvious injury which New York's plans, if carried out, would bring to the Chicago world fair demands early consideration and action."

Commission Is Appointed.

Congress, Mr. Dawes pointed out, has already provided for the observance of the bicentenary of Washington's birth through the creation of a commission which has made broad plans to celebrate it. "This commission does not seem to have considered at any time the project of a world's fair in the city of New York," Mr. Dawes said.

The New York venture, which has the support of the Bronx chamber of commerce and a committee of merchants, proposes that $100,000,000 be raised for the fair, that congress be asked to appropriate it, and that both state and national commissions be appointed to promote the project.

Dawes Asks Action.

"Congress will scarcely give adequate support to both the proposed New York exposition of 1932 and the Chicago world's fair of 1933," said Mr. Dawes in a statement issued after

ASSESSORS ASK $1,411,900 TO DO THEIR WORK OVER

Action Deferred Until Plan of Procedure Is Made.

The board of assessors yesterday recommended $1,411,900 to pay for reassessing Cook county real estate in accordance with the recent order by the state tax commission. On motion of President Anton J. Cermak, the committee voted to defer action until a definite plan of procedure is agreed upon, and it added, "until the tax commission approves its order to bring it within the realm of possibility."

An opinion from Haydon N. Bell, counsel for the board, told the commissioners they were legally bound to provide for a reassessment, but that the reassessment could not legally be defined as an emergency and therefore they cannot appropriate money until the 1929 budget is drafted.

County Faces Deficit.

M. J. O'Connor, clerk of the board, reported already in the red, due to the heavy expense of elections this year, and that the county would face a $1,000,000 deficit if money is appropriated for the reassessment at this time. The county's tax revenue would probably not be sufficient to meet anticipated war-risk bills, he said.

George O. Fairweather of the joint commission on realty valuations suggested that the land valuations might be equalized in time for the next tax payment and the assessing of improvements might be postponed until next year.

See Two Year Task.

The efficiency department of the county declared that there are not enough experts available for county work to complete the reassessment in less than two years.

John F. O'Conor, the equalizer of San Francisco, who was appointed by the board of assessors and board of review, told of his experience in San Francisco where the county's assessments on land were raised 150 per cent and on improvements 200 per cent by revaluation.

Clerk O'Connor estimated that Cook county's revaluation would have to be boosted $400,000,000 if the county was to meet the cost of the work in one year.

Charles Ringer, secretary of the board of assessors, said the reassessment would be more likely to lower than to raise the total valuations. The purpose of the work, he pointed out, is to equate taxes, which includes reductions for the overassessed as well as increases for the underassessed.

The estimate of $1,411,900 for revaluing the 1927 quadrennial revaluation came as a surprise. The figure that had been mentioned theretofore was $800,000.

A triumph of advanced automotive design . . . introducing new and individual standards of performance and appearance . . . Longer larger more luxurious bodies reflecting the full genius of Fisher craftsmanship . . .

Amid all the fanfare of new car announcements one fact stands out with shining clarity: Owners of cars in every price field are turning to the Silver Anniversary Buick with an eagerness which proves that they regard it as the greatest value ever offered in the motor world!

This radically new and different automobile is rolling up the biggest demand ever won by any new quality car. It is drawing more people to the showrooms, day after day, than any other automobile ever drew before. It is focusing the attention of America by quality-standards so new, so advanced and so epochal as to preclude any thought of comparison.

New Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher marking the highest degree of dashing, daring, debonair beauty ever achieved by that world's foremost builder of automobile bodies!

Thrilling new abilities—as unmatched as they were unknown a few weeks ago—resulting from sweeping advancements in the world-famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine!

New acceleration like a shot from a gun . . . dazzling new swiftness few drivers will care to attain . . . a mighty increase in power in what was already the most powerful automobile engine of its size in the world!

And, in addition, gorgeous new colors—sumptuous upholsteries—new adjustable front seats in the closed models—full-width rear seats providing plenty of room for three adult passengers—new appointments of luxury and convenience never before known to motor car practice!

America has seen plenty of automobiles. But America has never seen an automobile like this. "Just plain Wonderful" is the country's verdict on the Silver Anniversary Buick!

ENGLAND LEADS U. S. 200 TO 0 ON ARMED TANKS

Motorization of Land Forces Is Pushed.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special)—Comparison of the modernization work accomplished by the British and American armies since the war discloses that Great Britain has made by far the greatest progress in the introduction of new motorized and machine equipment into its armed land forces.

Information reaching Washington today reveals that the British army has more than 200 modern tanks, most of them manufactured within the last two years. The United States army, on the other hand, does not have a single modern tank assigned to its regular armed forces.

Six new tanks have been built since the armistice, but all of them still are considered experimental.

Willing to Spend Money.

The willingness of the British parliament to appropriate freely for the development and purchase of machines designed to increase the mobility and fire power of the land forces of the empire explains why Great Britain is far ahead in land warfare. While Great Britain has spent millions annually for the development of tanks, armored cars, tractors and other equipment, the American congress has expended only a few hundred thousand dollars each year on this phase of its national defense.

Both Great Britain and the United States have made good progress in the development of the light tank, now considered the mobile fighting machine of the special motorized fighting forces of the future.

America Holds Back.

The big difference in the policies of the two governments lies in the fact that Great Britain has supplied the funds to purchase large numbers of the new machines developed by its experts and then tested them out on a large scale, while the American government has been content to spend a small amount annually on development work and virtually nothing on the purchase of enough of the new machines to give them a practical test or to accustom army officers to their advantages and disadvantages.

American army officers believe they have developed the best light tank of its size in the world. Officers assigned to the experimental motorized force now conducting tests in the vicinity of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., speak in the highest terms of the performance of the light tank and assert that its fighting qualities are more than equal to anything of its size yet manufactured.

Makes 23 Miles an Hour.

This tank can travel as high as 23 miles an hour, weighs 7½ tons, is manned by two men, and armed with an automatic one pounder and a machine gun. It is engined with a 90 horsepower motor and can travel over almost any terrain.

As a result of experiments since the war, Great Britain has developed a Vickers ten-ton tank, manned by four men, and armed with a three pounder and four machine guns. This tank has been adopted as standard by the British army and has been supplied to three of its four tank battalions.

According to its latest characteristics the tank rests on a dragon traction chassis, and has a range of 20 miles on hard roads. It carries armor one-fourth inch thick and is engined with a 90 horsepower eight cylinder engine.

The Vickers tank is so armed that it can fire in any direction and at low flying aircraft. It is rectangular in appearance with straight sides. Its engine is air cooled and has eight speeds forward and one in reverse.

JAPAN'S DRAGONS KILLED WAR LORD, BRITAIN CHARGES

Says Gunman Society Bombed Chang.

PEKING, China, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Japanese Black Dragon, a society of gunmen, was responsible for dynamiting the railway coach of Chang Tso-lin, said Bertram Lenox Simpson, a British author, who returned here to day from Mukden. He described himself as an adviser to the late war lord of Manchuria.

Mr. Simpson, who writes under the nom de plume of "Putnam Weale," said the Black Dragon was composed of the "Soshū class" of Japan. He created it with having had a hand in the death of the queen of Korea in 1895 and with having caused an agitation which gave rise to Japan's famous 21 demands of 1915.

Explosives Japan to Clear Case.

"Dynamiting from Mukden of Japanesee of the Soshū class took place shortly after Chang Tso-lin's train was bombed," he said. "The action was ordered by Japanese consul authorities and it suggests to me that the court martial of Japanese officers who were responsible for guarding the viaducts during the dynamiting occurred will yield results."

"The action of the Japanese government when the queen of Korea was murdered shows that it is not afraid to probe political crimes affecting the honor of the country. The killing of Chang Tso-lin was the work of bad men and certain people in the Japanese army were implicated. Personally I think Chang Tso-lin was killed because he was unwillingly stood in the way of certain schemes of certain Japanese elements."

(Bertram Lenox Simpson has appeared in Chinese affairs and discussions at intervals over a period of several years. He came into special notice when he stirred up a controversy at the Washington conference of 1921 on Chinese finance. He declared that Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. had predicated a $15,000,000 loan to Peking upon the payment of interest on German bonds held by that house and which China had repudiated when she declared war against Germany. Mr. Lamont described Mr. Simpson's story as "wholly fantastic and untrue.")

Japan Withdraws More Troops.

TOKIO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Imperial authority has been obtained for the withdrawal of five companies of infantry from Tientsin, China. It is expected that the evacuation of the Sixth division from Shantung will also be ordered shortly, as otherwise it would be necessary to organize winter quarters.

Will Reorganize China's Finances.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14.—The central executive committee of the Kuomintang party and the Nationalist government closed its fifth plenary conference today. The most important action was the adoption of the financial reorganization program recommended by T. V. Soong, the finance minister. It includes the centralization of national finances within the finance ministry and the adoption of a budget system.

Redwood City, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Three persons were suffocated here today in a fire which swept the summer home of Sol Koff, wealthy San Francisco real estate man. Four others were injured. The dead are Mrs. Lena Koff, Howard Koff, 7, and Miss Rose Heyman, New Jersey school teacher, a cousin.

DEMANDS VETO OF OBSTACLE TO NEW TERMINAL

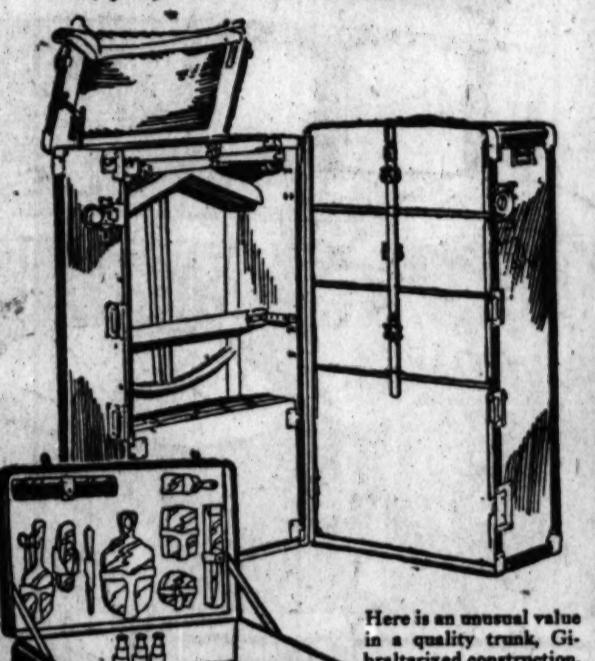

A message vetoing the ordinance passed by the city council July 11, granting the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad authority to maintain its tracks across and under Plymouth place and Taylor street, was being prepared for Mayor Thompson's signature in Corporation Counsel Etelson's office yesterday.

The ordinance had been put into effect. It had been blocked, indefinitely, the new south side terminal project, according to members of the mayor's terminal committee, headed by James Simpson and Col. A. A. Sprague. This was pointed out in THE TRIBUNE of Aug. 10.

"I have instructed my assistants to write a veto message incorporating THE TRIBUNE statement above," Etelson said. "This ordinance was not called to my attention when it went through the council and I certainly don't want the mayor to sign it."

The ordinance was adopted unanimously by the council without the customary two weeks' delay for publication.

ALASKAN LINE KEEPS CREATING DEFICIT FOR U. S.

Millions Pour Into Northern Venture.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special]—What should be done about $50 million of railroad which his department is operating at an annual loss of $1 million dollars is one of the problems which Secretary of the Interior G. O. West, President Coolidge's new cabinet member, has found confronting him.

This line, the Alaska railroad, which he proved a white elephant ever since its construction was authorized during the Wilson administration, has already cost the government considerably more than $75,000,000. The present outlook is that the railroad will continue to pour out large sums for operating expenses for new equipment without prospect of ever getting the railroad on a paying basis. Whether the expenditures have been justified from a development standpoint has been seriously questioned.

New Deficit Report.
Officials of the interior department are submitting reports from Alaskan officials of the railroad showing the operating deficit during the fiscal year just closed on June 30. It is expected that it will be upwards of a million dollars, this amount having been appropriated by congress for the purpose for the fiscal year 1928, plus $400,000 for the purchase of new equipment. For the fiscal year 1929 no appropriation $900,000 for operating deficits and $400,000 for new equipment.

The operating deficit fell below $1,000,000 for the first time in the fiscal year 1927. The exact loss that year was $359,424. In 1923 the operating loss was $1,800,846; in 1924, $1,813,000; in 1925, $1,673,000, and in 1926, $1,169,000. These sums merely represent the expense of operation and revenues do not include depreciation or interest which would be computed if the railroad were operated by a private company. As much as $1,800,000 annually, it is claimed, ought to be added to these losses for such items as depreciation.

New Manager on Job.

A new general manager of the railroad has just assumed his duties. He is G. F. Olson, who resigned the position of superintendent of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific railway with headquarters at Duluth to accept the place. Mr. Olson left for Alaska after receiving instructions from Secretary West to do everything possible to cut down the operating deficit.

During the last four years the general manager was Noel W. Smith, formerly assistant to the general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, who was loaned by that railroad to the government. Although the deficit was reduced by one-half during the period of his management, it is admitted that the operation of the railroad will continue to eat up government money indefinitely with considerable doubt as to whether the taxpayers are getting full value.

How the Millions Disappear.

Actual expenditures for construction, equipment, and similar items for the Alaska railroad from March, 1914, to June 30, 1927, amounted to $63,000,000. The amount spent for equipment during the fiscal year recently ended would bring the total capital costs up to June 30, 1928, to $64,859,616. Operating deficits up to June 30, 1927, amounted to $10,424,000. Adding another million dollars for the fiscal year 1928 brings total

POTTERS SEEK TO END COLLECTIVE WAGE DEALINGS

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Collective dealings with workers will cease in the pottery trade if a proposal made today by the United States Potters' association is accepted by the Brotherhood of Operative Potters. The two organizations are holding a joint wage conference here.

The suggestion was made by the Potters' association. Its contract with the brotherhood expires on Oct. 1, and the individual manufacturers after that date seek to deal independently with the workers.

The proposal is in answer to demands for increased wages. Workers had asked for increases of from nine to eleven per cent for kiln makers, makers and warehousemen. Other demands included shorter working hours. The brotherhood will give its answer tomorrow.

Expenditures of all kinds well above $75,000,000, without attempting to add interest charges on the government's investment.

The government paid construction costs which would have bankrupted a railroad with a better outlook for profitable traffic than this road ever has had.

The $35,000,000 limit of cost specified in the original Alaska railroad act of 1914 proved entirely insufficient.

Claims of Road's Sponsors.

When congress authorized the construction of the railroad the sponsors of the legislation pointed out the pictures of population for the development of the territory. It was declared that by providing adequate transportation the depopulation of Alaska would be prevented, there would be rapid development of its natural resources, including gold, copper, coal, and other minerals, and agriculture would be stimulated. From the national defense standpoint it was contended that it would be advantageous to open Alaskan coal fields to the navy.

As the situation now stands there are less than 30,000 white residents in the entire territory of Alaska and not more than 8,000 in the territory served by the Alaska railroad. The population is tending to dwindle rather than increase, placer mines are exhausted, and conditions show little justification for immediate attempts to draw upon the mineral and forest reserves of the country.

Police Chief and Another Shot by Negro; Form Posse

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Chief of Police Mark Oliver was shot, perhaps fatally, and another man was instantly killed here today when a Negro prisoner opened fire on them as they were about to enter his cell at the city jail, then escaped. A posse was organized to search for the Negro.

TWO NEAR NORTH SIDE SALOONS ARE RAIDED BY DRY'S

Prohibition agents under George Hurlburt, federal administrator for this district, yesterday raided two saloons on the near north side, arresting three men and confiscating a quantity of beer and liquor. At 157 East Ohio street Patrick McHale was arrested when the agents found two barrels of beer. Mortimer Owens and Wilbert Reynolds were arrested at 1501 East Ontario street, and the agents confiscated eight cases of beer, two bottles of champagne, rum, gin, and whisky. Steps will be taken to padlock the places for a year under permanent injunctions, Mr. Hurlburt said.

FOUGUEUR SHOT IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO BEACH SECTION TO GET 20 STORY FLATS

NOBLEMAN IS HELD FOR DEPORTATION AS A SWINDLER

A twenty story apartment building is to be erected at 4540 East End avenue, Hyde Park, just north of the Chicago Beach hotel—in the district often called the south side's Streeterville. This structure, designed by B. Lee Stoff, is to contain ninety-nine flats of two, four, and five rooms each.

The new building is to be financed by the Chicago Beach hotel, which has a $200,000 bond issue at 6 per cent. It is stated the project will represent an investment in land and building of $1,660,000. The site fronts 154 feet on East End avenue and is irregular in shape. It contains 381,000 square feet.

It is stated that work on the structure is to start shortly, with the hope of having it finished for occupancy on May 1, 1929. The land on which stands the new building will fill in from the lake as a part of the deal whereby the Chicago Beach hotel gave up its riparian rights to permit of the new south park development. The owner is the 4940 East Avenue Building corporation. Further details are to be announced later.

CROATS ASSAIL SERBIAN O.K. ON ITALIAN TREATY

Action of Parliament Is Called Illegal.

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 14.—Parliament adjourned today for an indefinite period after having added to the turmoil in the country by ratifying with the majority of single vote the bitterly opposed Nettuno conventions with Italy.

Meanwhile the question has been raised in sympathy with the Croatian opposition, whether this slim victory is sufficient to make the pact binding, alleging that the constitution calls for a two-thirds vote for treaty ratification.

Before voting suspension today, the skeptics [parliament] passed one measure designed to allay Croat anger when it suspended the parliamentary immunity of Deputies Jovanovic and Popovich, who were accused of being accomplices in the shooting last June in parliament of Stefan Raditch, his nephew, and another deputy.

Call Ratification Worthless.

Croatian newspapers today declared that the Nettuno convention as ratified with only the single vote supports voting for the worthless conventions of the Croats and Serbian Agrarians left parliament without sufficient numbers for ratification. They assumed the government of adding one to crime, regardless of the satisfaction due to the Croats for past injustices.

Generally it is acknowledged that while the Nettuno conventions will give added power to the Croatian demand for home rule it will leave Italy without excuse to interfere in Jugoslavia's internal crisis.

Rome Hails Serb Action.

ROME, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Ratification of the Nettuno convention by the Belgrade parliament is hailed in Rome as the auspicious sign of the opening of a new era of friendly and mutually profitable relations between Jugoslavia and its neighbors. After a year of ill will, misunderstandings and polemics in the press. The great achievement given the solemn signing of the Franco-Jugoslav treaty on Nov. 12, 1927 roused Italian fears that Jugoslavia was determined to embark on an adventurous policy. The conclusion of the Italian-Albanian treaty of friendship and defense caused similar fears in the kingdom of Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes.

Despite recent incidents in the Dalmatian zone, however, the atmosphere has cleared considerably following Premier Masalossi's speech in the Senate on June 5 which was most moderate in tone.

Keep Raditch Spirit Alive.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ZAGREB, Jugoslavia, Aug. 14.—The determination of the Croatians to remain true to the political ideals of their beloved leader, Stefan Raditch, who died recently as a result of wounds received in the Jugoslav parliament on June 20, was emphasized in a decision at a meeting yesterday of the Croatian peasants' party.

M. Raditch still remains "the president of the party, although dead," according to the resolution adopted, which is intended to mean that his spirit, which was devoted to preserving Croatia from the hegemony of Serbia, still dominates the political life of the most powerful party of the territory added to Serbia after the war.

Husband's Note Warns Wife Before He's Found Suicide

Mrs. Blanche Hadley, 820 East 48th place, found a note from her husband yesterday. "Don't go into the garage; call the police," it read. The police were notified. They entered the garage and found the body of Albert Hadley, 54, the husband, hanging from a rafter. He is believed to have taken his own life because of dependency over a long illness.

RESCUERS FIND BODIES OF THREE IN FAR NORTH

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 14.—A two year old arctic mystery was solved today by the finding of the bodies of John Hornby, eminent English explorer, and his two nephews in a lonely cabin on the north bank of the Thelon river in the barren land west of Hudson Bay. The man and youths have been hunted since last summer, but "went in" in 1926.

Starvation had claimed the trio, it was apparent Staff Sergeant Martin Joyce, royal Canadian mounted police, who found the bodies. Their last privations were apparent from the absence of food in the hut. The bodies were in sleeping bunks where the victims two months ago had dropped down to die.

Hornby was an arctic wanderer who preferred the icy wastes to civilization. Several times earlier in life he announced his roving life and took permanent residence in England. But each time he was lured back by the call of the wild. This expedition, launched two years ago, was to have been the "last trip."

Doubt is Shown.

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 14.—(AP)—A. J. Bell of Saskatoon, formerly commissioner of the northeast territories, said he believed that there had been a mistake in reporting the finding of the bodies. He said he had a long telephone talk with Hornby while in Vancouver last fall.

"Mr. Hornby told me he was farming on Lulu Island [near Vancouver]," Mr. Bell said.

MONTANA FIRES SPREAD; UNDER REIN ELSEWHERE

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Forest fires continued to spread in Montana tonight after burning over more than 3,000 acres, but conflagrations in California and Idaho were under control.

High winds and the inaccessibility of the Clearwater forest in Montana aided the spread of two fires.

The fire in the Sierra national forest of California was turned back by back fire, and the Miami mountain blaze was checked after having burned over 5,880 acres.

Fires in Idaho burned over 10,000 acres before rain fell and helped the fighters control the flames.

TRAPPED SLAYER OF WOMAN KILLS SELF IN HOME

Letters Reveal Shattered Love Affair.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 14.—(Special)—Austin Pavey, 35, slayer of Mrs. Lillian Mae Carmean, 33, shot himself to death early today in his rooming-house using the same revolver with which he killed the woman Monday night.

When police surrounded the house and threatened to break down the door, Pavey fired a bullet into his right temple. He was dead when they entered the house.

A neighbor notified headquarters that the suspect had entered the house after driving back and forth in front of it for several minutes.

Pearl Had Affair.

Evidence of the existence of a clandestine affair between Mrs. Carmean and Pavey, a factory worker, was found among his personal effects.

A card, which police said bears his handwriting, was found in his room. It read:

"I will marry you, Mr. A. Pavey, after I am divorced from my wife—Mrs. Lillie Carmean."

One letter indicates Mrs. Carmean changed her mind about leaving her husband and son.

Police believe Pavey failed in his efforts to persuade Mrs. Carmean to leave the city with him, then shot her down on the street from his automobile.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

The ring came back-with a bottle

LISTERINE
SHAVING CREAM?

LISTERINE

THE SAFE ANTISEPTIC

Today, halitosis is inexcusable. People who offend deserve no sympathy . . .

A WOMAN we know took a direct means to settle a matter which she couldn't bring herself to talk about.

She returned the engagement ring—with a bottle. A bottle of Listerine. It carried its own implication:

Brutal? Perhaps. But those who today offend by halitosis (unpleasant breath) deserve not too much consideration. They ignore the facts about it (see below). They refuse to suspect themselves. They fool themselves.

Nice people, fastidious people, people who consider others, recognize the constant risk of offending this way, and keep themselves on the polite and popular side by using Listerine. Every morning. Every night. And between times when necessary—especially before meeting others.

Keep a bottle handy in home and office for this purpose.

Listerine ends halitosis instantly. Being antiseptic, it strikes at its commonest cause—fermentation in the oral cavity. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it destroys the odors themselves.

If you have any doubt of Listerine's deodorant properties, make this test. Rub a slice of onion on your hand. Then apply Listerine clear. Immediately, every trace of onion odor is gone. Even the odor of fish on the hands yields to it. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

The race went to the swift without much challenge in the first round of the women's western golf championship at Indian Hill yesterday, for only two of the sixteen matches went as far as the home green, and half of them were decided by 5 and 4 or more.

The one customary upset of the day was that perennial paradox, the defeat of the near medalist in the first round, which again bloomed when Mrs. Dalton S. Raymond of Baton Rouge La., lost to Mrs. L. C. Nelson of Dayton, O., 6 and 4.

While Mrs. Melvin Jones, former western champion, was eliminated, it could hardly be called an upset, for her opponent was none other than Gregg Lifur, California champion, who had a break of the draw that brought two fine golfers together with the result a forego. However, Mrs. Lifur's margin of 5 and 2 was wider than either was expected to get.

Other Champions Win.

All the former champions, except Mrs. Jones came through to the second round without much effort though Virginia Ingram held Mrs. Harry Preissler, defending champion, even to the first nine despite Mrs. Preissler's three stroke better medal score. Mrs. Preissler's knee was bruised Monday night when the automobile in which she was riding hit one of the thick holes in the park familiar to Chicago drivers, and hurt her against a coat rail. It pained her as she began play, but gradually wore off.

After they had halved the tenth in par, Mrs. Preissler found her game and won the next five holes in succession and the match, 5 and 3.

Mrs. Ingram was short with her second shots on several of the holes and missed quite a few, but still managed to lose a bit of the hole.

Dorothy Page, who not only won the championship but half a dozen of the side awards contests two years ago, had little difficulty in moving into the second round, defeating Jane Calvert, another Wisconsin star, 4 and 2. Miss Page was wild off the tee for a half dozen holes and the match was all square after the fifth, but the former champion got her drives under control and won the sixth and ninth to turn 2 up. She then won the twelfth and thirteenth, and they traded a couple of holes and halved to finish.

PUTTING WIN FOR MRS. LIFUR.

Mrs. L. Reinhardt, the third of the western champions, defeated Mrs. T. C. Ernst of Calumet, 4 and 2. Of the other stars, Berne Wall won, 2 and 1; Mrs. Lee Miles, 4 and 2; Mrs. O. S. Hill, 6 and 4; Virginia Van Wie, 1 and 7; Virginia Wilson, 3 and 1; Mrs. Curtis Sohl, 7 and 6; Mrs. Austin Purdie, 5 and 4; and Miss Elizabeth Curtis, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Lifur defeated Mrs. Jones by a slender pinhead, the greens and putting being the weak points of the latter, which is usually the strongest part of Mrs. Jones' game. Neither was at her best in the first round, though neither was particularly bad. Mrs. Lifur having a medal score of 42 and Mrs. Jones 44, with Mrs. Lifur two up at the turn.

Coming back, however, Mrs. Lifur's new birdies and three pars on six holes, while Mrs. Jones had only one, was too much for the Olympia Park player, who could only equal on the six holes.

The results of yesterday's first round:

Mr. Harry Preissler, Los Angeles, defeated William Evans, 5 and 3.

Mr. Berne Wall, Fort Leavenworth, defeated Mrs. C. Kendrick, Indian Hill.

Miss Doris Van Wie, Oakwood, defeated Mrs. E. H. Calumet, 1 up.

Mr. Gregg Lifur, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. M. Jones, Olympia Florida, 6 and 3.

Miss Dorothy Page, Seattle, defeated Carrie Moore, 5 and 4.

Miss Virginia Wilson, Springfield, Ill., 7 and 6.

Mr. H. C. Nelson, Kansas City, defeated Mr. D. R. Raymond, Evansville, 6 and 4.

Misses Van Wie, Reilly, defeated Carrie Moore, 5 and 4.

Misses Wal, of Oakwood, defeated Mrs. E. H. Calumet, 1 up.

Mr. Gregg Lifur, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. M. Jones, Olympia Florida, 6 and 3.

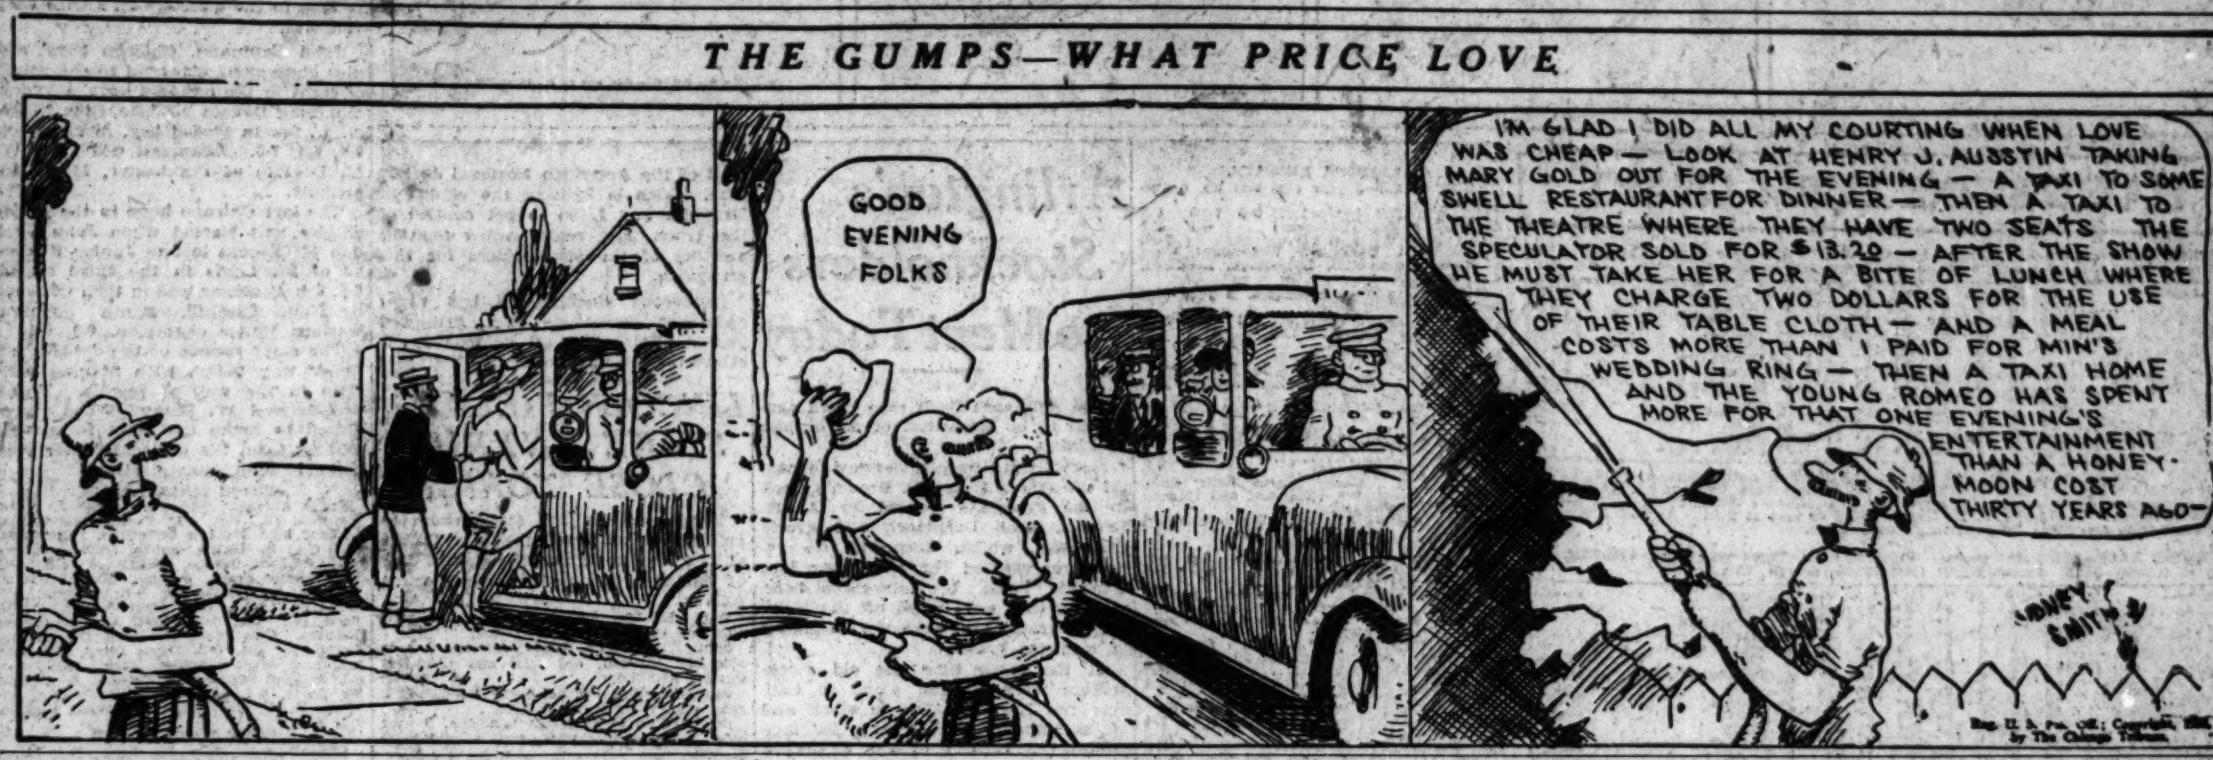

Miss Dorothy Page, Seattle, defeated Carrie Moore, 5 and 4.

Miss Virginia Wilson, Springfield, Ill., 7 and 6.

Mr. H. Austin Purdie, Indian Hill, defeated Mr. Harold Foreman, Shady Lake.

Mr. S. L. Reinhardt, Dallas, defeated Mrs. L. Reinhardt, Dallas, 4 and 2.

Miss Elizabeth Curtis, Clinton, Ia., defeated Mrs. L. Reinhardt, Dallas, 4 and 2.

TUNNEY BECOMES AMIABLE; TELLS OF ENGAGEMENT

In the WAKE of the NEWS

IN MY COZY TENT.

I love to lie in my cozy tent And hear the rain from the storm clouds sent.

With its pat-pat-pat in the wall And its running off on a waterfall. And to sit through the tent the lightning flash.

Then hear the echoing thunder crash.

Then list to the rain come faster down Through the swaying trees with the wet wind blown.

Then hear the rain from the storm clouds sent.

To raise the flap and let the stars shine in

As they show their faces through the last cloud thin.

The screech gusts break the slow drip-drip.

As they noiselessly through the treetops slip.

Showering down the hidden, clinging food.

Which strikes on the tent with a leaden thud.

When silence drops from the firmament, And wafts me to sleep in my cozy tent.

Theodore returned from improving the broken shorthorned in time to the "comme cest la vie" of Philadelphians at North Shore Monday. It is customary in this foursome for members thereof to express lavish praise of any really good shot, with condolences, not always meant, at misfortune in trap or out of bounds. On one hole, the Boss was in the far corner of a large rolling green and his putt went about five feet from the hole with several undulations underneath. He sank the putt. Both because he had the hole for undulating and he the bowie knife to defend it, he was allowed to be complimentarily addressed as the "King of the hole." That was a fine putt and that was another fine putt." He looked at us a bit doubtfully. Immediately an argument arose whether a player could have two fine putts on one green. We maintain it is possible, and invite opinions from Helpers on the subject.

GENE SEES HIS LAWYERS.

Having emerged last night at a big stag dinner in his honor from his day of seclusion following his marriage to the trip here from the former summer home in Maine, Gene saw the morning turned up in the offices of his attorneys, where he spent some time in consultation with his fiancee's mother.

These facts can be stated on the authority of the amiable Gene, himself. The retired champion today shed his disguise of Sherlock Holmes smoked glasses and cleared up numerous mutual points in connection with the formal announcement of his engagement by his fiancee's mother.

SHEA VICTOR OVER CARTER IN TAME 10 ROUNDS

His Strong Finish Decides Verdict.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Eddie Shea, west side featherweight, won the decision over Bennie Carter of Phoenix, Ariz., in the ten round windup of Promoter Jack Art's boxing show at the Hippodrome last night.

Because of the unwillingness of the fighters to mix the crowd of 2,000 which paid about $6,000 to see the bouts booted in the seventh round, Ralies in the ninth and tenth sessions changed the boos to cheers.

It was not an interesting fight to watch because neither would lead. Whenever either took the aggressive stance, the other would have to be patient by referee. Once one fighter was landed, the other would be complimented for the end of the first round, when Carter let loose a left swing which caught Eddie on the chin. In the tenth they mixed at a lively clip. Shea's finish was the deciding factor. Shea weighed 125½ pounds and was a bit doubtful.

In the other fights Jim Corrada of Evanston won the four round decision over Mickey Huey of Chicago, Solly Schuman of the west side made a great finish to win from Pauline French, and another rounder, Joey Patrice took the six round bout from Joey Sloven, and Joey Thomas whipped Billy Evans of Cleveland.

BRITTON AT 43 SHOWS YOUTH OF 24 HOW TO BOX

OLD T. S. JORDAN FALTERS UNDER WEIGHT PACKAGE

Shasta Bullet First in Oak Park Handicap.

BY FRENCH LANE.
Old T. S. Jordan couldn't quite qualify for the title of "Iron Horse" in the Oak Park handicap which provided the feature for 8,000 turf fans at Hawthorne yesterday.
He had won four straight since he reached Chicago early in the season. He had beaten the best sprinters that could be mustered against him. And as a result the handicappers kept piling weight on him until he went to the post yesterday garbed in the man-robes, and khaki silks of Stuyvesant Peabody, carrying the big package of 119 pounds.
Shasta Bullet beat old "T. S." by two lengths or at least the official chart reads that way. But it wasn't Shasta Bullet any more than it was that load of 119 pounds that sent the 165 of Luke McLuke down to defeat. Jordan leaped away from the barrier in the lead. He shot on into a longer advantage and as he rounded the turn which brought him into the stretch three lengths in front, the crowd in the infield was about ready to drop his number into the winner's slot.
Weight Tells in Sprint.

For the first time T. S. Jordan's weight package began to tell on him. He stopped almost as suddenly as he had made his brilliant run in the early part of the struggle, and Shasta Bullet, under the feather of 106 pounds and second ridden by Jockey H. Philpot, moved up just as fast as Jordan was quitting.

A sixteenth out Shasta Bullet, on which there had been a tremendous plunge, dropped his nose in front, but Philpot was not content to win by any narrow margin. He flew into Shasta Bullet again and drove the California 4 year old up till he was running fastest of all at the finish.

Senator Camden's No Easter was third and the once great sprinter Springer of Wales ran another disappointing race.

Jack Alexander Pays $16.88.

The middle west handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, brought a second victory during the Hawthorne season to Jack Alexander. And the big red gelding from the west was awarded at long odds, pay $16.88 in the 32 mutuel betting, when he galloped down the stretch past the finish line a length and a half in front of Sea Scamp. Old Lancer was third.

Tubeoso, the daughter of Busy American, which races for Rome Reseps of Kentucky, won her fifth victory on a Chicago track when she led all the way and won the Priscilla purse of $2,000, the old filly, E. R. Bradley's Beaming Love, a 50 to 1 shot in the betting, was second and Niftie Nite third.

GENERAL MOTORS SECOND IN SIZE, FIRST AS EARNER

This is the second of several articles dealing with the concentration of production and capital in American corporations in different fields of industry. As far as possible, the interrelation of corporations through investment, both in their own and other industries, also is treated.

BY O. A. MATHER.
(Finance Editor, The Tribune.)

The rank of second largest American industrial corporation, but which also is the greatest earner in the world, goes to the automobile industry. It is the General Motors corporation, a comparative infant. It began as a company in 1908 and was re-incorporated in its present form in 1917. Its total assets now exceed $1,900,000,000.

The General Motors corporation is the leading motor car manufacturer. Last year it produced 44 per cent of all cars turned out in the United States and Canada, while at the same time it was the largest exporter. While primarily an open company owning the plants, properties and other assets of its manufacturing units (known as divisions), it also is a holding company, owning part or all of the capital stocks of other companies connected with its activities.

List of Divisions.

The General Motors corporation owns the physical interests of the following divisions, which in most cases were individual corporations taken over:

Armstrong Spring Co.,
Browne-Lipe Spring Co.,
Hart Bearings, Inc.,
Budd Manufacturing Co.,
Cadillac Motor Car Co.,
Chevrolet Motor Car Co.,
Fisher Body, Inc.,
Oakland Motor Co.,
Olds Motor Co.

The General Motors corporation also owns all or a majority of the stock of the following companies:

A. C. Spark Plug Co.,
Gen. Motors Canada, Delco-Remy, Frigidaire, Hesler Radiator, Inland Motor, Modern Housing, N. S. Department Mfg. & Supply Co., Gen. Motors International, Gen. Motors Co. (London), Gen. Motors Export, Gen. Motors (Australia), Gen. Motors (Great Britain), Fisher Body Co., Louis Motor Body Co., Fleetwood Body Co., Gen. Motors (N. E.), Gen. Motors (Spain), Gen. Motors (South Africa), Vauxhall Motors, Fisher Lumber Co., Gen. Motors (Sweden)—ance.

Constantly Widening Scope.

In addition, General Motors of Canada in turn owns the capital stock of Modine Dwellings and the New Departure Manufacturing company owns the stock of the New Departure Realty company and a majority of the stock of the Bristol Realty company. The parent corporation also owns the stock of various selling companies.

From this it will be seen that the General Motors corporation is constantly broadening its scope of manufacturing operations to include an increasing proportion of parts entering into the composition of products. But it also controls important enterprises outside of the automotive field. Its Frigidaire and Delco Light subsidiaries make electric refrigerators and electric plants. The corporation also owns a half interest with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in the Ethyl Gasoline corporation. It owns extensive timber lands and has credit, insurance, and real estate subsidiaries.

While the manufacturing divisions are wholly consolidated in the parent corporation, General Motors has an investment of $95,262,013 in affiliated insurance companies not consolidated. Its other investment at the end of 1927 consisted in government securities valued at $75,442,697 and more than $21,000 invested in its own common and preferred stocks, which were held in its treasury.

DU PONT-GENERAL MOTORS ALLIANCE

I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. must be associated with General Motors. While the Du Pont company is the leading unit in the powder and explosives industry, more than a third of its assets are comprised of holdings of General Motors stock. Directly and through its 70 per cent ownership of the General Motors Securities company, the Du Pont company holds $92,488 General Motors common shares or about 22 per cent of the outstanding issue. At the end of last year this stock was carried at $19,774,600. The report also concluded an item of $171,462,197 invested in miscellaneous securities.

Thus the Du Pont company is one of the large holding companies, with its investments representing a large share of its total assets of $351,440,262. Its holdings of securities of controlled companies not consolidated, plus equities in their surpluses, are carried at $38,860.

H. O. STONE & CO.

has widened its field. In addition to explosives, the Du Pont company has extended its field to include the manufacture of dyes, stains, paints and varnish, coated textures, industrial alcohol, glycerin, motion picture film, and chemicals. Its wholly owned subsidiaries follow:

American Nitro. E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc. (Pennsylvania). Du Pont Builders. Hotel Du Pont. Du Pont Engineering. The Playhouse. Du Pont Nitrate. Roxbury Realty. Du Pont Securities. Controlled companies not wholly owned as follows:

Amicas Glycerine. Du Pont Rayon. Du Pont Vinyl. Du Pont National. Du Pont Colophane. Ammonia. Du Pont Film & Motor Seal Manufacturing.

In connection with its electrical interests the Du Pont company is jointly interested with the General Electric company and the Aluminum Company of America in seeking water power rights on the St. Lawrence river.

Chrysler Traded on Press Service

New York, Aug. 14.—Although trading was somewhat blisker than yesterday the stock market gave no evidence today of getting any place in particular. A contrary movement in the motors group during which General Motors sold off 5% points while Chrysler was gaining 2% was the most interesting trading activity.

Otherwise, in last night's market completely under the domination of call money rates, which eased off 1 per cent to 6%. Recessions, which had been pronounced in many leading issues, were turned into recoveries by the drop in money rates. The market was still spotty, however, lacking a definite trend and apparently without the vitality to carry through such movements as are started.

Chrysler's Advance Interest.

The continued advance of Chrysler stock has Wall street mildly excited. Today the issue opened nearly 2 points above the previous close, stubbornly resisted a dip on selling, and then was again up first on news of lower money. At its peak a new high price of 97% was attained.

Chrysler shares at the close were 41% points above the year's minimum price. Sales aggregated about 25 per cent of all transactions, and the financial district is reading into the contrary movements in Chrysler and General Motors impressive changes in financial backing. A more logical explanation of the phenomena is that both issues are pawns in a huge speculative game based on the uncertainties of the presidential year.

The General Motors slump came in the teeth of an announcement by Alfred Sloan, president, that sales during July showed an increase of 31.9 per cent over July of 1927. Other favorites went down. Montgomery Ward had a net loss of 5% points; Hudson Motors, 2%; and Hous-ton Oil, 1%.

Steel Again Believer.

Since General Motors has lost its drive, United States Steel is being regarded as the bellwether, and brokerage circles believe American Can and Chrysler are being groomed as its running mates. Fairable moves are being received every day from the steel districts and the outlook for higher prices is bright. Today United States Steel was fractionally higher at the opening and sold off only 1% at the close.

The rails were subject to no unusual activity. Railway men here seem to be optimistic over the outcome of the testing strike of teamsters and conductors in the west. The Watson-Parke act provides for action by the federal board of mediation in the event that a disagreement seems inevitable. Therefore a strike, at least in the near future, seems improbable unless the men ignore the law.

WHEAT PRICES TAKE AN UPTURN ON FROST SCARE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A frost scare, with temperatures as low as 31° in parts of southern Alberta, brought about a decided change in the wheat market yesterday. The market was early, but there was aggressive buying later which found offerings small and prices advanced 2¢ to 3¢c from the inside figures, with December touching $1.19c on the bulge, or 6c above the inside price of the previous day. The close was within a fraction of the top, with net gains of 1¢ to 2¢c. Winnipeg showed more strength than Chicago and gained 3¢c to 4c the day.

Coarse grains were inclined to drag, but corn responded to the late strength in wheat and closed 2¢c higher, while oats were unchanged to 4¢c lower. Rye gained 2¢c to 3¢c.

Frost in Canada.

Official reports showing low temperatures in Alberta and private claims of light frost at numerous points in that province, with the forecast for some what cooler weather over night, was largely responsible for the sharp bulge in wheat, as the recent decline has resulted in a large short interest, and there was a general buying on the way up, with sellers of offers forced to protect themselves on the bulge. There was some buying of December early by a house with foreign connections. Liverpool saw a slight 2¢c pickup, higher than the last day on the less favorable Canadian news and on a better milling demand.

There were no reports of damage from the prairie provinces as the result of the light frost, but the trade was decidedly apprehensive, as all reports of late have been decidedly optimistic.

Corn Has Heavy Underdries.

Corn made only a moderate response to the strength in wheat, the forecast for showers over part of the belt being a factor. Trade was light and the market only influenced. There were further claims of rain being needed for the new crop from parts of Nebraska and the Dakotas, which attracted some attention. September was unsettled and after breaking early, rallied sharply with abortive buy buyers. The local spot basis was 40¢ higher to 4¢c lower, with charters down 2¢c to 3¢c.

Liquidation and hedging prices carried September and December out to a new low on the crop early and the market showed little rallying power. Cash interests bought on the decline. Mousies with seaboard connections were on the buying side of rye, and with the strength in wheat an advance was easily attained.

The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOOGS

SYNOPSIS.

The young Elizabeth is the adored daughter of Tim and Elizabeth Darcy. When she is four years old she runs away from home to avoid punishment for getting into mischief. She is brought home promptly by a neighbor, Miss Smiley.

At twelve Elizabeth runs away again, this time from school and to the home of her Aunt Dolly in London. Dolly, who is almost as flighty as the young Elizabeth, quarrels with her niece, much to the irritation of her stepson, Stephen Whibley.

After the death of her parents Elizabeth goes to live with her aunt. During the war they keep themselves busy and are amused by performing in amateur theatricals for the benefit of wounded soldiers. Stephen comes on leave, is asked by his stepmother to bring Mark Lennox, a young playwright, to one of their performances.

Shortly after the end of the war Mrs. Whibley dies suddenly and Elizabeth learns of her inheritance that her aunt had frisked away the money left her by her husband. She also disposes of some of Stephen's inheritance and asks him to take care of it. After this revelation, Elizabeth decides to go to Mark Lennox and ask him to help her get a job on the stage. She refuses his help and advice, and takes a part in Mark's new play. On opening night she runs away and runs off, leaving an understudy to take over her part. Miss Smiley, who happens to be in London, finds her and brings her back to the street and takes her to Mrs. White's house. The latter offers her a job as cook and Elizabeth accepts. But she falls in this job, too, and then lands a part as cook in an old lady in the country. Julian Vasington, the old lady's grandson, makes all the arrangements with Elizabeth.

Stephen arranges with his cousin, William Whibley, to take over the management of Elizabeth's inheritance. Elizabeth grows fond of Mrs. Vasington, who showers attention upon her young companion, but the girl misses youthful companionship and vents a mystery about the house. Stephen comes down with Julian Vasington for a week-end. On the way home Julian tells Stephen the story of Elizabeth Sorrell, who died in the house fifty years before.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX.

CAREFULLY LAID PLANS.

Stephen had a disagreeable jar at the mention of Blossom. "She's still depraved if her face is anything to go by," he frowned. "The other servants seem just efficient machines; I cannot understand Mrs. Vasington's ways. It must be difficult to get servants in a place like that, but I cannot understand her keeping Blossom."

"No, because you do not understand my aunt," said Julian quietly, "she's probably recognized the useful tool that would stick at nothing—and one never knows. Anyway, those two understand each other perfectly, and when I tell you it is not my aunt who fears Blossom, but Blossom who has a wholesome fear of my aunt, perhaps you may realize there is more to the dear, sweet old lady than meets the eye—but, of course, you won't, because the things unseen do not exist to you and your like. But to continue with the story. This man Bullet came down and made the place secure against escape—or rescue. He brought his patients with him, many of them genuine cases and treated well enough; even getting better under his care. He did as much good as evil in the world, that's the devil of it, and some of the patients who were getting cured relapsed badly after he left. He was a man of about five and forty, very big and powerful, with a handsome, sensual face and compelling, hypnotic eyes. He had a certain charm, an artful way, being in fact a man of good family; a cunning and an art

By Roberts Nangle.

This is a pleasant bit of nonsense made to order for the Metro-Goldwyn brand of dainty slapstick. In the stage version which Jeanne Engels romped through last season, the heroine hired a pseudo lover to keep her mind off of another gentleman. The situation is reversed in the movie, and it is the hero who equips himself with an imitation fiancee as a protection against the wiles of a seductive female.

Marion Davies is the obliging cardboard lover, Nils Asther the waver-headed Jeta Goudal, the vampire, and the three who play their roles for all they are worth. Miss Davies has no trouble at all portraying one of those enterprising playmen who defy heaven and earth to keep them from getting a man; once their heart is set on him. She enters the chase with optimistic zest and determination and maintains an air of flapperish cuteness throughout all the absurd maneuvers called for by the scenario.

Nils Asther acts like just the kind of man who would be unacceptable to Jetta Goudal's heavy vamp. Miss Goudal is, as usual, like something out of Sue.

Robert Leonard, the director, did well by the star by giving her particular comedy sense full play, and the man who wrote the subtitles has succeeded in making them laugh at the Oriental. The Riviera setting provides nice scenes and photography. All things considered, "The Cardboard Lover" should be a cut above one isn't a dyspeptic or a cut-groat.

pictures of the invasion of Belgium by the German army 14 years ago. It's all there—the burning houses, the shattered churches, the Kaiser government troops, and the ever-retreating Belgians. If you want to refresh your memory on these military horrors which seem almost unbelievable in this year of the Lord, the picture is worth a visit.

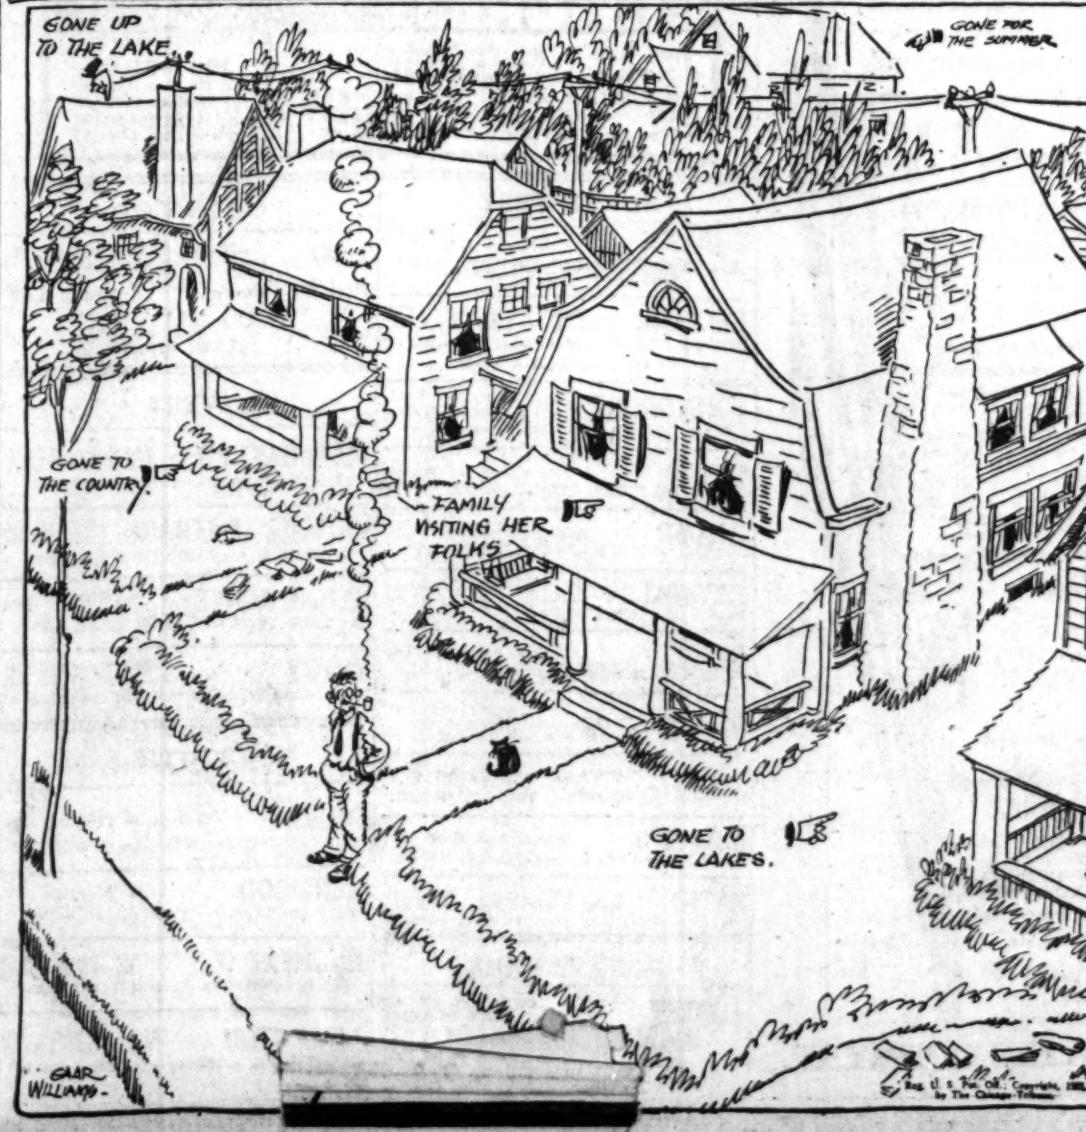

Also on the bill is "The Unholy Three," that gruesome thriller which created such a furor when it was presented to the world several years ago. It's one of the pictures that age does not stale.

French Government Taboos Bull Fights at Cherbourg

CHERBOURG, France, Aug. 14.—Reports that bull fights were scheduled to take place at Cherbourg so aroused the Norman citizens that they forced Premier Raymond Poincaré's taboo of the sport today. In answer to the Normans' complaint, the government ordered the promoters of the fights either to give up their plans or guarantee no animals would be killed and no blood shed.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, Room 100, 43rd and Dearborn, Chicago, Ill. John W. Eckblow, 1396 Albany Street, St. Paul, Minn., was awarded $5.

The Question.

What do you think of Herbert Hoover's acceptance speech?

Answers.

George Schreiber, 523 East 66th street, Arverne, L. I., advertising. I consider it a 100 per cent. It indicates that Mr. Hoover has a sound and comprehensive outlook upon national problems. We know he is a man of broad and varied experience in practical life, but that he should loom so large as an interpreter of the day's issues comes as a pleasing surprise.

Miss Helen Scott, McCormick hotel, secret—Wonderful. Being a Republican I naturally would have been for Mr. Hoover, but this speech of his was wonderful beyond expectations.

Miss Helen Scott, McCormick hotel, secret—Wonderful. Being a Republican I naturally would have been for Mr. Hoover, but this speech of his was wonderful beyond expectations.

E. J. McDonnell, Lennox hotel, real estate—That speech shows that Herbert Hoover is a learned student and has a master mind. He probably is not only a better trained executive than and President we ever had but the best executive in the United States. I was deeply impressed with his comment on labor, immigration, and prohibition.

Miss Emilie Lutzow, 638 Addison street, stenographer—I skipped through the speech hurriedly because of its length, but I was considerably impressed by its soundness, the seeming strength, and the humanness showing in it.

This address seems to match the impression of him that one gets from his pictures.

Louis Rosenstein, 56 West Lake street, lighting fixtures—I think that speech will place him in a favorable light, but there was any doubts about him previously.

Hoover's speech assures the public of continued prosperity. My opinion is that if he is elected he will prove to be a greater President than Mr. Coolidge.

"As a result we have some strange and wonderful things told us about the harmfulness of certain food combinations, about the superiority of all foods as furnished by nature, the danger from cooked foods, the harmfulness of animal foods, the bogey of acids, and about many other food fads too numerous to mention. There is some truth behind some of these food fads but they are not all true.

"If we should follow the advice promulgated by these fadists we would all eat three cakes of yeast and two packages of raisins a day; half or two-thirds of our diet would be bread and one-third fats; we would all use Scotch Decoction or Uncle Jim's Medicine for their health; building vitamins; we would take Naturefood or lose our hair and health; we would abstain from the use of meats or get cancer, rheumatism, auto-intoxication, and an immoral sense; and we would eat whole grain wheat exclusively. We would all use two quarts of milk a day.

"If almost anything were wrong with us we would eat out animal proteins and use plenty of Sue's Salts or Somebody's Pills; we would keep away from foods which furnish 'acid' and would cure cancer, tuberculosis and other diseases with a cleansing, fresh diet and herbs of the mystic sort.

"In many cases there is just enough truth back of the statements to catch those who have little knowledge of foods. In other cases the advice is so absurd as to make one wonder how any person could swallow such bait.

Mr. Moulton emphasized that he had no quarrel with the qualities of these foods, but with the generally exaggerated type of advice that has been disseminated to accompany them. He censured particularly the one food fad, the white bread phobia, and the anti-meat idea.

A FRIEND IN NEED

By SALLY JOY BROWN.

Bathing Suit to Give.
I have a woman's woolen bathing suit, about size 44, which I can no longer wear. It is in good condition and if one of your readers would care to have it, I'll gladly send it. L. W.

You can take advantage of the relief the cool lake offers, once you have this bathing suit. If you wear size 44, we will be glad to have you write us for this suit; please do not telephone.

Gas Heater Offered.

Would one of your readers like a small gas heater? We are giving up housekeeping and have one to dispose of. G. K.

In the cool of the early fall evenings before the fires have been lit, the small bathroom makes your living room a delightful, cozy and comfortable place to be. I shall be happy to have you write me should you like to have it; please do not telephone.

Luncheons Make Up Pre-Nuptial Calendar of Eleanor Stevens

BY THALIA

Mrs Eleanor Stevens' friends are evidently making up in luncheon parties for the dinners and dances they can't give for her and her fiance, George Champion III, of New York City, before their marriage on Sept. 5. Mr. Champion can't arrive on the scene until the day before the wedding, which is to be solemnized at The Meadows, the Highland Park residence of Miss Stevens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Stevens. Fortunately, the bridegroom to be isn't necessary for luncheon, so there's to be practically one a day from now until the ceremony. And that's more than three weeks of luncheons.

Miss Ruth Mills is to be hostess today at the Skokie Country club, and Miss Marion Black is to entertain on Friday in Glencoe. Mrs. Robert Ober Clark (Martha White), who is to be matron of honor for Miss Stevens, is to give a luncheon next Monday at the Winnetka residence of her mother, Mrs. Selden White, and the next day Mrs. Lawrence Norcom, who was Miss Carolyn Case before her own marriage in June, is to give a party at her parents' residence in Hubbard Woods, where the Norcoms are living temporarily.

Miss Stevens' crowded calendar also notes a bridge party by Miss Virginia Helm on Tuesday, Aug. 28, a luncheon the following day by Mrs. Kingsley Loring Rice (Mary Jane Johnson) and her sister, Miss Alice Johnson, at the students' residence in Evanston, a luncheon by Mrs. John Elliott Jr. on Aug. 30, and a luncheon by Mrs. Webster Neely Stafford on Aug. 31. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. James W. Stevens, is to give a luncheon at the Stevens hotel and a matinee party on Sept. 1, and Miss Betty Slaughter has reserved Tuesday, Sept. 4, for something she wants to give. Miss Jane Pither, who is to be bridesmaid, and Miss Lydia Atwater, the maid of honor, are giving luncheons on the 5th and 6th, respectively.

Nathan Kubina Parker of Pittsburgh is to be best man for Mr. Champion, and the ushers will be Carleton Blunt and Raymond W. Stevens Jr. James W. Stevens III, and Raymond Webster Stafford, the bride's nephews, are to be page boys.

Since Mr. Champion's mother, Mrs. Charles S. Winslow, is ill in San Diego, Cal., he is to go on there first before coming to Chicago for the nuptials. He may have a bachelor dinner in New York before he leaves there, but otherwise he'll be present at none of those so-called nuptial festivities. He is taking his bride to New York City to reside.

The regatta at Lake Geneva next week under the auspices of the Inland Lake Yachting association, is probably the biggest event of a season that's unusually active socially. The events begin on Monday and last through the week. Most of the summer residents are to have house parties, among them Henry H. Porter, the Marquette Heaslys, the Hubbard Carpenters, the Simeon B. Chapins, the Frederick H. Bartlets, Mr. and Mrs. Addin Kaye, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Walden W. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Clegg, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westcott, and Phillips W. Phelps. There are to be more than a hundred yachts entered in this annual affair of its kind. Lakes that are to be represented are Minnetonka, White Bear, Neenah-Nodaway, Cedar, Delavan, Pine, Pewaukee, Oshkosh, Green Lake, and Lake Geneva.

The official social affairs of the week include a buffet and dance at the Lake Geneva Country club, given by Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, president of the association, on Monday evening; a dance at the Big Foot Country club on Tuesday night; a reception and dance to be given by Commodore William Nelson Pelouse and Mrs. Pelouse at the country club on Wednesday evening; a dance at the Dolman Lake Country club on Thursday, and on Friday night, the winners are to be presented with cups, and there is to be a dance at the Lake Geneva Country club.

Plans for the Onondaga polo team to go to the National tournament at Cleveland this weekend have been canceled, but the team may go to Dayton for some matches a little later this summer.

The Albert J. Pardridge, who evidently prefer their summer quarters at East Hampton on Long Island to lovely Vero Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Wheaton, gave a supper party for # guests last Saturday after the women's tennis matches at the Maidstone club. The Pardridges plan to remain in the east until October.

Mr. William Mitchell Blair of Lake Forest is to return on Saturday from Saratoga Springs, where she has been with Mrs. William E. Clow Jr.

Mrs. Francis Prentiss of Cleveland has come on to hear some of the operations at Ravinia. She is the house guest of the Winfield Scott Linn during her stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Fenster, who are spending their honeymoon summer at Gloucester, Mass., will have as visitors this week Mrs. Fenster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Pope of Washington, D. C., who are motorizing on Cape Cod and through New England. Young Mrs. Fenster was Miss Celeste Pope before her marriage in early June.

SOCIETY NOTES

Col. and Mrs. Robert Gray Peck, their son, Robert Gray Peck Jr., and their niece, Miss Leontine Moyer, now live with them in Maine for the remainder of the summer. On their return in September, they plan to take an apartment on the near north side.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harmon of Highland Park have as their guests, their niece and nephew, Miss Marjorie Van Schaick and Gerrit Van Schaick, formerly of Highland Park, now of Connecticut.

Dr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt of Glencoe and their children have returned from a motor trip east, having spent most of their time on Cape Cod.

Mr. George Halleck Taylor has had the misfortune to have to go to the hospital for an operation. She's doing quite well, however, although she will probably be on the sick list for another fortnight.

NICARAGUA AND U.S. BANKERS AT ODDS ON FINANCE

Congress Halts Funds for New Guards.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)
BALBOA, Aug. 14.—The United States marines trained national guards of Nicaragua are still unrecognized legally. Louis Rosenthal, manager of the Nicaragua National bank, said today. He is here on his way to New York for a vacation.

"It is more important that the Nicaraguan congress legislates and provides funds covering the $1,000,000 annual cost of the guards; which, at the present time, President Diaz is paying from the surplus revenues, which are unincorporated in the budget," Mr. Rosenthal said.

"Without proper provision for the constabulary the American marines must remain indefinitely. The guards number 1,500 natives, with 150 Marine officers and non-coms acting as officers."

Expects Benard to Win.

Mr. Rosenthal said the Conservative candidate for president, Adolfo Benard, Nicaragua's sugar king and millionaire president of the Nicaraguan sugar estates located at Chinandega, which are British controlled with headquarters in London, unquestionably will win over Gen. Jose Maria Moncada, who led the Liberals against Gen. Chico, and President Diaz during the revolution.

Gen. Benard is now vacationing in Spain. He is father-in-law of Nicaragua's minister to Washington, Alejandro Cesar, and is most friendly to America.

Big Loan Deal Menaced.

Mr. Rosenthal, questioned regarding the state department's statement last Friday indicating that the $12,000,000 loan proposals had collapsed, was silent. However, it is generally known in American circles here that J. W. Seligman and Co. and the Guarantees Trust company are unwilling to place the bonds on the market without an endorsement on their backs of President Coolidge's statement regarding the nation's Central American attitude.

It is feared that investors would be unwilling to respond while Marines are still fighting Gen. Sandino's outlaw rebels without some guarantee that within five years at least the situation would be normal.

Dr. W. W. Cumberland, following investigation for the state department, said the situation is really nil. Nicaraguan leaders wake up to their responsibilities of protecting legally invested capital, the country's situation is hopeless. Dr. Cumberland deplored the fact that the Nicaraguan congress defeated the McCoy bill and found the situation far different from that in Haiti, where he formerly was financial advisor.

Object to Revenue Control.

Dr. Cumberland suggested financial reorganization providing for the appointment of a controller general subject to the approval of the state department as well as the Nicaraguan government, but Nicaragua's politicians kicked him and are still kicking. With an empty treasury, both now want the $12,000,000 loans from the United States bankers without strings attached.

The successful customs collection without graft by Americans has meant a source of revenue to the republic, but observers feel that Americans must similarly control the internal revenue which may mean a 75 per cent increase. When the customs collection was established under the Americans in 1911, the revenue averaged 100 per cent increase.

Both President Diaz and the bankers favor a loan of sufficient size to build a railroad or highway from Grenada to the Atlantic coast, which has long been needed, as well as to pay revolution claims and provide for the cost of the election.

OREGON SLAYER FEARS CHURCH WILL OUST HIM

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14.—(AP)—El Universal Grafico today says José de Leon Toral, assassin of President Elect Obregon, is gained that the pope has granted him for his act and that he fears that he will not be excommunicated.

The newspaper prints a purported statement by Toral written in the San Angel jail in comment on the recent letter of Bishop de La Mora which denied the Catholic clergy was denied.

Toral's alleged statement repeats his declaration that he alone, without the knowledge of any one, planned to kill Gen. Obregon. He says one of his bitterest thoughts since has been the knowledge that the Catholic clergy, even "the chiefs of the church," are being charged with responsibility.

WILL DEAD ON SHIP.

William E. Wiggin, 42 years old, 1864 New Haven, Conn., died yesterday in the naval reserve station, the U. S. S. Wahoo, dropped dead from heart disease yesterday on board the ship.

"I won't do it"

—Said Mrs. Burns

"I refuse to pay 50 cents for a half-pint of any liquid insect-killer when I can get the same quantity of Black Flag for only 25 cents." Black Flag Liquid is one-half the price of other liquid insect-killers. And it is the deadliest made. (Money back if it doesn't prove so.) Some prefer Black Flag Liquid to kill flying pests—flies, mosquitoes, etc., and Black Flag Powder to kill crawling pests—roaches, ants, bed-bugs, fleas, etc. Powder, 15 cents up.

Elmer Praises WGN Program; Explains Jazz

It's from Jungle and It's Popular Favorite.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Although unrepresented, the "Evolution of Rhythm" program from New York, W-G-N, 8 to 9, was a remarkable and comprehensive exposition of the history of jazz and symphonic syncopation.

The musical illustrations contained examples of rhythm in the music of the African jungle. American Negro spirituals, and work songs from Russia, South America, and Hawaii.

The program also revealed the methods the later composers used in dealing with that simple earlier rhythm. This was illustrated by present day jazz and symphonic syncopation.

According to the announcer: "The dancing ranger is 'pure jungle.' In Bach's 'Gavotte,' we see the twentieth century fox trot 'though Bach himself could not foresee it.' Dvorak's Slavic Dance is another form of the earlier minuet."

According to the announcer: "During the world war the times were intense, and there developed the music we call jazz, and the meanest of these is 'Sweet Chariot.'

This selection resembled in tone the rhythm of native African music.

The announcer added: "And now from the darkened corners of the room youth sways to 'Whispering,'—jazz at its most finished form." The combination of words and the playing of this musical illustration almost perfectly answers the question what is the meaning of jazz.

Announcer: "The latest link in the chain of rhythm is Gershwin's 'Rhapsody in Blue.' The beginning is back in the African jungle, and the end is nowhere."

Those who heard this broadcast now know what jazz is.

W-G-N's own 9 to 10 concert, featuring the station's concert orchestra, Miss Belle Forbes Cutter, soprano, and the station's triple male quartet, brought selections by Blatz and Massenet. True, there were Negro spirituals by the triple male quartet, including the "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Also a coloratura aria from Blatz's "Mefistofele," sung by Mma. Cutter—something new in the line of songs for radio. And as a feature dues a portion of the garden scenes from "Rhapsody" sung by Mma. Cutter and Walter Purinton tenor.

I believe it worthy of observation that the leading character in the W-G-N 7 to 8 "Floorwalker" program has a difficult task to perform. That he gets away with it successfully speaks well of him.

Likewise, the "Tomorrow's Tribune" feature is obviously a difficult task. Announced Quin Ryan handles this surprisingly well.

The "Story of Big Dam Break in India Proves a Fake" is a good example.

SIMLA, Punjab, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Indian government received official information today that reports of the bursting of a glacial dam in Kashmir on the Shyok river are erroneous.

It was indicated that the first report that the glacier had given way was based on a first mistaken for one of a train of beacon lights prepared to give the signal when the break took place.

A long series of bonfires on mountain peaks had been prepared to carry news of an expected break in the dam which is 17,000 feet above the sea and in an almost inaccessible region. The flood waters had been forming since 1926 and a lake nine miles long was formed behind the dam of ice which is thought threatened.

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. There are in Hollywood 433 important actresses, including all stars. 417 of these use this fragrant white soap. All the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms. You, too, will love the smoothness it gives your skin.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Suburbanites who have storage space in their basements should not ready to put away their winter's supply of fruits and vegetables. There will be an abundance of many different kinds of both fruits and vegetables available.

It pays to buy both fruits and vegetables for canning and storing in the home where there is space. There will be a big supply of apples and white potatoes on the market. They are usually stored in the average fruit and vegetable compartment in the basement of modern city homes.

The potato crop, with the largest on record, according to the latest government report. It is officially estimated that there will be 459,270,000 bushels dug this fall. The largest previous crop was 453,396,000 bushels produced in 1922.

If something does not happen between now and harvest time there will be 458,000 bushels of apples picked in Illinois. That is more than 2,000,000 bushels above last year's crop. The government estimates that there will be 173,000,000 bushels of apples in the United States compared with 123,455,000 bushels last year. There is also a big peach crop now being harvested in Illinois.

Edward, aged 7, had been going to school for two years and was now in Miss Golden's "manner class" and liked to go to school. One day last night, so one day he rushed into the house and started to go through the clothes in the closet, sparing nothing.

"What are you looking for, Edward?" his mother asked.

"I'm looking for my cap. I see Miss Golden coming and I want to tip it to her," Edward replied. E. H.

Too Hasty.

I have twin daughters, and to me they seem the most beautiful children in the world. When they were 3 years old our town staged a pageant, and so sure was I that they would win the first prize that when the judges announced from the stage of the theater that the winners of the first prize were twins I quickly grabbed a hand of each of my little cherubs and had them down the aisle toward him.

Just as I reached him I heard him give the names of the prize babies—twin boys. For a moment I wished the floor would open and swallow me and my children, so great was my embarrassment.

For what more beautiful knowledge can the world possess for us than to know that we are beloved and needed by those whom we love and need in our turn. (Original: 1928: By the Chicago Tribune)

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Old Varieties of Beefsteaks.

When everywhere I got to eat the meat seems to beretchedly cooked, even kept over and warmed up again, why, etc. I cut out an old Whitehead book on cooking meats, or Phillips, and read awhile. And lately I noted that Whitehead's recipe for "Spanish Beefsteak" might have been prepared for this day and hour of barbecued sauce vogues. (I got something with the other day—sure because it had naturally soured, etc.)

The recipe reads: "Broil a beefsteak fairly well done, and serve it with the following sauce: a hot dish of butter, flour, cream, onions, and white pepper, and while it is gradually melting cut up a clove of garlic and a small onion, and fry them slightly yellow; put in either four peeled tomatoes or two basting spoonfuls from a pan, and one-half pod of red pepper minced, and a little salt. Let stew down nearly dry, and place in the dish neatly with a spoon."

And here are others from the same source:

"Beefsteak with Tomatoes. Mash a few peeled tomatoes—or use some from a can—in a sauceron over the fire. Season with butter, pepper and salt, and let stew down thick without burning. Dish around the steak."

"Beefsteak with Onions—Shave two onions as thin as possible in a frying pan, put in a little lard and butter, turn a plate upside down upon them, and fry them done in five minutes. Take off the plate, and let them begin to brown. Draw out fat in one side of the pan, then dish them on top of the meat in hot dish."

"Beefsteak Maître d'Hôtel—Broil a beefsteak and place it on a hot dish, drop up a lump of butter in a small frying pan over the fire. When it is melted throw in a teaspoon of chopped parsley, then pour it over the steak. Cut a lemon in four. Squeeze the juice of two pieces over the steak, and place the other two quarters in the fish as a garnish."

"Beefsteak with Natural Gravy—Beefsteak and other meats carefully basted with the stock never thrown into the gravy in the fat edge, or a loose corner yield a gravy of their own on the dish after a few minutes."
